Insurance Agents Have Not Heard of Advance In Rates.

Expect One But Not as Large as 25 Per Cent.

Companies Claim Minnesota Business Has Been Done at Loss.

No official information has been recerning the proposed advance of 25 per cent in rates all over the country. One agent has been advised, however, that no certainty that the advance will be equal to 25 per cent. Indeed, it is considered likely that it will not be over 15 per cent. The Southeastern insurance representatives have already taken action in line with the Eastern advance of 25 per cent.

It is claimed that the fire insurance premiums must be two and a half times "I see that John J. Lentz's contest for the losses in order to make the business profitable to the companies. cent; in 1899, 52 per cent, the same in 1898, and 45 per cent in 1897. So, on the basis on which the insurance companies figure, they have been losing eonsiderable money on their Minnesota business for a number of years past. The percentage of loss to premium in Duluth last year was 54, against 53 in St. Paul and 35 in Minneapolis. Rates are arrived at in the same way all over the country. There is what is called a universal schedule, classifying all kinds of property. These rates are higher or lower for various districts according to the crass of buildings that predominates and the facilities for fighting fires. The companies arrive at a certain percetnage of qualification of the universal schedule based on the local conditions referred to. For instance, a fire tug would make an immense reduction in the rate on dock hazards in Dujuth, and might affect many classes of property.

It is said that the advance in rates for lumber risks at Ashland will not affect the same class of risks here, not immediately at least. No special sched-ule is expected to be issued. But when the general advance occurs, lumber here will get in on the rise. It is said that lumbermen at Ashland have been careless and large losses have occurred vance in rates at that point. The same class of rates here have been pretty

C. W. ERICSON,

ADVISED HOTELS

Frank B. Lamoreux, a Stevens Point attorney, who is stopping at the Spaiding, reports that the long-talked of strike among the paper mili workmen on the Wisconsin river, is finally on. Mr. Lamoreux came up from Stevens Point yesterday. At that time, the employes of the Winting nills, known as the Wisconsin River Paper and Pulp company, had walked out. The mills of this company make exclusively print paper. The trouble is said not to have spread as yet to the industry at Grand Rapids or Centralia, where the Nash mills are located.

Will S. Taylor, manager of the Pulpwood company of Appleton, who is also at the Spalding, says that when he left Appleton night before last, there were no fresh signs of trouble there. The Kimberley-Clark-company, which owns more paper producing capacity than any of the other concerns in the Fox river vailey, has granted the demands of the men, so that an entire shut-down of the industry will not be effected, even if the strike spreads. among the paper mili workmen on the will not be effected, even if the strike spreads.

The demand is made that the mills close down from Saturday night instead of Sunday morning until Mondoy morning. Heretofore, there has been a layoff of twenty-four, instead of thirty-six hours. The effect of a general strike on the daily papers and other users of print paper may be imagined when it is known that one firm in Chicago uses every day twelve to fifteen tons of print paper from the Whiting mills, which are dewn on account of the trouble. Solid trainloads of paper run daily from the Wisconsin river and Fox river valleys to Chicago, and so much of it is used that comparatively no stocks are kept ahead in that city. However, while a general strike in the West might cause the price to be advanced to those consumers that have not contracts with the International or Great Northern paper companies, whose mills are in the Fact, it is said that the Great Northern paper companies, whose mills are in the East, it is said that the suspension of publication of dailies in the great cities would not be caused, as has been reported. Some dailies might have to reduce the size of their editions if the strike is prolonged, but no absoif the strike is prolonged, but no absolute famine is considered possible as long as the Eastern mills are not affected, for they are active competitors in the Western field.

friends, as well as the startling and dramatic features of the unexpected cure, caused one of our leading newspapers to make inquiry into the facts.

The following written statement from the judge himself sets forth the facts:

roads pass all of that great multitude of people who die every year of consumption. Each route begins with health and happiness and ends with disease and death.

First road: a slight cold-neglected-settles in the head or throat-chronic catarrh-extends to the lungs-consumption Second road: a slight cold-neglected ough-settles in the lungs-cough gradually growing worse-consumption-death. Third road: a cold-neglected-settles in throat-hoarseness-short breathonsumption—death.

Thousands have just started on one of these roads, all of whom could be easily cured by Peruna. Thousands more are half way to the fatal end of one of these roads who are still curable by a course of treatment by Peruna. Yet other thousands are near the end whose last days could be made bearable and hope of recovery more probable by commencing Peruna without delay.

I was on the verge of the grave. My husband and my friends had given me up. Some one, however, who had tried your Peruna, advised me to use it. As a last hope I bought a bottle, and, finding immediate relief from its use, continued taking it. My cough left me and I had no more hemorrhages, and I am now as well as I ever was in my life. I thankfully attribute my present good health, and, in fact, my living at all, to the good effect of Peruna. "MRS. ELIZA HEINZLE."

St. Ignace—Frederick Emerick, proprietor of a local hotel, has received documents which go to show that he is one of the heirs of a great estate and may receive as much as $10,000.000 as his share. The estate is that of John Nicholas Emerick, whose heirs were first advertised for ten years ago and since which time the family genealogy has been carefully traced. The estate consists of real estate and other assets in Germany. In the hands of the government, to the value of $78,000,000, and property in Philadelphia amounting to $20,000,000 more. John Nicholas Emerick came to America from Germany with three brothers, over 100 years ago. He became associated with John Jacob Astor and invested his wealth both in this country and Germany, dying in the latter country. He was unmarried and the descendants of his three brothers are now his heirs. The estate has remained in trust for a long period.

FOR MURDER.

Identity of Mayer's Murderers Established By St. Paul Police.

St. Paul. Feb. 26.-Arthur Inman, a clerk, of Minneapolis; Hugh Jackson, of North Platte, Neb., and Frank Alexander, of Coles, Neb., are sought by the St. Paul police as the men who murdered Police Officer Charles Mayer on the morning of Feb. 1. The police say that they are positive as to the guilt of the men, and that they have the evi-

Marquette—Although the fire in the International hotel at Hancock was not as disastrous as it might have been, the story of its origin is not unlike that of the great Chicago fire along in the '70s. However, a mouse, and not a cow, was the cause of the Hancock fire. The fire started in the linen room from a lamp, but in what manner was not known detinitely until the truth in the matter came to light. A servant girl who was sent into the linen room on the third or attic floor carried a lighted lamp in her hand, as the apartment was dark. She had barely opened the door when a mouse scurried across the floor. The girl's heart went into her mouth and in her fright she dropped the lamp and hastily retreated. Before she realized what she had done the room was ablaze.

hind" the fleeing men. Whither they have fled the officers do not now seem to have the faintest idea, and it has at lest been decided to make public the names, descriptions, records and photographs of the suspects in the hope that citizens will aid the officers in apprehending the men.

All the men accused of the murder of Mayer have long criminal records, and their photographs are in the rogues' gallery. Two of them have "done time" more than once. One of them at one time made a daring escape from prison.

NEW CASES.

The indications are that the March term of district court will have a little larger calendar than the January term. Seventeen new cases were noted for trial between yesterday noon and this noon, bringing the total number on the calendar up to fifty-seven. It is expected that from the calendar up to the calendar up pected that from ten to twenty notices of trial will be filed this afternoon. Cases cannot be gotten on the calendar after today. John Tischer has served notice of suit against the Duluth-Superior Traction company to recover $1025. He claims he was thrown from his wagon while crossing the street car tracks, on East Superior street, near Twentieth avenue, through the careless running of a car, which collided with the vehicle. The plaintiff claims to have been deprived of the use of his right arm as a result of injuries sustained. James A. Hanks is the plaintiff's attorney. Jacob Pete has brought suit to recover $287.42 from the city of Ely. Pete claims this balance to be due on a contract for excavating a ditch for a sewer in Chapman street alley, Ely, which was accepted by the city. He alleges that he received only $63.46, whereas he earned $150.88 under his contract. J.

Thomas is his attorney. The case is noted for trial at the March term.

Another Ely sult is begun by Benjamin C. Everett, who wants a divorce from Adelaide Everett. The parties were married at Tower April 16, 1896. It is alleged that the wife deserted the husband Oct. 2, 1899. A. J. Thomas is Amelia Sherwood and others has been noted for trial at the March term. The complaint has not beenfiled. NO SOLUTION

Washington, Feb. 26.-The meeting of elections this forenoon did not result in supplying any solution of the difficulty that the senate is in in connection with the Tillman-McLaurin matter. The Republican members of the committee frankly confessed that they had not been able to formulate a scheme which will relieve the situation and after less than an hour's discussion, they asked that the committee should adjourn until 2 p. m., the understanding being that the senate should adjourn after a brief session and thus give the committee an opportunity to fully consider this important question. Most senators looked upon it in its present shape, as a stumbling block in the way of all other legislation.

The meeting of the committee was marked by the best of feeling on the part of all the members and all agreed readily to a preliminary suggestion by Chairman Burrows that the question should be ap proached from a purely non-partisan standpoint because of its general importance. It was evident, however, that the Democrats were inclined to apprehend some effort at political advantage on the part of the Republicans and the channel through which they expected this manifestation soon became evident when Senator Foraker made the suggestion that there should be a more severe degree of punishment meted out to Senator Tillman than to Senator McLaurin, Senator Dubois met this suggestion with a positive negative, and when the suggestion was aftersupplying any solution of the difficulty met this suggestion with a positive negative, and when the suggestion was afterwards made that Senator Tiliman should be called upon to prove before the committee that the charge which he had repeated in the senate that his colleague had yielded to undue influence, there was a hint that if this matter should be entered upon, some senators would insist upon the reopening of the charges on file in the committee in connection with the election of other senators, which charges have never been disposed of.

During the morning meeting of the committee, Senator Balley notified the Republicans that the Democrats would not submit to the adoption of a resolution, suspending the South Carolina senators. He said he agreed that they should be punished for their breach of the peace in the presence of the senate, but he was satisfied that the Democrats would not submit to any proceedings which would deprive the state of representation. Some of the Republicans replied that they agreed as to the unwisdom and as to the unpracticability of proceedings in the way of suspension. While no positive statement of the policy was made from the Republican side, there was enough said to lead to the conclusion that the proposed resolution for suspension has been abandoned and that the punishment suggested will be in the form of censure.

ITS FATE

Much Uncertainty as to Outcome of Wine Room Ordinance.

Alderman Krumsieg May Offer a Substitute Resolution.

The New Council Known to Be Closely Divided.

As a leading subject of street gossip, the fate of the wine room ordinance has replaced the mayorulty contest. On all sides expressions are heard for and against its passage, but those favoring it are apparently in the ma-

Even a number of saloon keepers commend it. They say that eards, women and wine rooms in saloons are detrimental to legitimate business. The fight in the new council over this measure promises to be more interesting than that on Monday night. The new council stands seven to seven, with two aldermen in the doubtful list. To pass the ordinance the temperance element must secure two more votes, while the opposition only requires a gain of one vote to de-

Alderman Krumsieg of the Second ward may offer a substitute for the ordinance in the shape of a resolution calling for a comprehensive report of all saloons where women, gambling and other social irregularities exist, with a view to taking away all licenses where the saloon business is not conducted on a strictly legitimate basis. Mr. Krumsleg is of German descent and represents a large German constituency. In their fatherland no such a thing as illegitimate saloon business exists. The laws are very strict and rigidly enforced. If violated the proprictors know their licenses will be revoked and they can never again follow the saloon trade. Mr. Krumsleg says that if the wine rooms are abolished it will be intruding on the rights and privileges of a large class of citizens that like to gather for a friendly chat or a friendly game of cards. They do not care to be thrown in contact with the public at such times, and their refuge is the little rooms. He says that if the laws now on the statute books were properly enforced there would be no necessity for the wine room ordinance. Friends of the ordinance say it is far from beaten. Pressure will be brought to bear on the opposing aldermen, now that they are known by their votes Monday night. They lay particular stress on what the police say of wine

The officers' work in running down criminals would be much easier, conventent and pleasant if they could see all that was going on in a saloon at a Now an officer starts out to look for a man and he must needs look into every little room and cozy corner in every saloon in the district where he suspects the man is located. Frequently the policemen interrupt little seavces between people that do not care to be seen in such places, and as a result the officer unconsciously makes an enemy. One officer was severely abused by a prominent business man not long ago because he looked in on a little game of "smear" while searching for a man suspected of crime. Much surprise was expressed yesterday at the part Alderman Barnes took in the fight against the ordinance. It is claimed that he represented the administration on this occasion. However, up to the present time Mayor Hugo has Report of Committee Insaid nothing that could be construed as epposition to the ordinance.

AMUSEMENTS.

"THE TELEPHONE GIRL." "The Telephone Girl," a musical com-edy, that flattened out into a dismal failedy, that flattened out into a dismal fallure, caught a large audience at the Lyceum last evening. If it was ever intended for a laughter producing entertainment it fell far short of its object. Of course it would be difficult for any company to put in a whole evening without occasioning a little laughter, but that coaxed out last evening was of the tired kind. Some of the music was hright and catchy, but the singing was bad, very bad. There was just one attractive feature about the "Telephone Giri," and that was Miss Mabel Hite, who starred the production, but her support was very production, but her support was very Winfield Douglas and Margie Ford ap-

Winfield Douglas and Margie Ford appeared in several specialties, singing and duncing. They would have been better received had they cut out the singing and conflued their efforts to the dancing. Some of the songs ran pretty close to the line of vulgarity. The first act was given a very frosty reception, but in the second the audience managed to wirm up a little on a few occasions.

Knute Erickson, Annie Mack-Berlein and Beatrice Norman are the leaders in the cast which is presenting "Yon Yonson," which will be seen at the Lyouum this evening. Others in the cast are: George Bryton, Belle Gold, E. Guy Spangler, Sydney Craven, E. J. Mack, Clinton Maynard, Harry Hubbard, W. H. Konst, George Ringold and the famous Lumbermen's quartet.

IMPERIAL BELL RINGERS. heard in the Star lecture course. The Boston Herald said of the company: "At 8 o'clock the regular entertainment began with a march by the Imperial Bell Rlungers, executed in a most fascinating manner, bells of all sizes being used. Mandolin and banjo selections by these same performers were then given. It was a fine program and every one was

"GIRI, FORM MAXIM'S."

"The Girl from Maxim's" will be the attraction at the Lyceum tomorrow evening. Heading the list of players, in the titular role of the play, is Miss Lena Merville, who is said to interpret the character of Praline, the Moulin Rouge dancer, to the life. Miss Merville is a pretty and vivacious young woman of magnetic personality, who puts an abundance of life into her performance of the leading role. She also has a sweet volce which is heard to good advantage in the various songs interspersed throughout the plece. W. H. Turner, who plays Dr. Petypont, is credited with a remarkable clever rendition of the role of the much harassed physician. Others in the cast of principals are Joseph Allen, John H. Armstrong, Harry Dull.

VISITED BY STORM

San Francisco Is Swept By a Terrific Gale.

Ships Drag Anchors and Are Considerably Damaged.

Soldiers at Presidio Lose Tents and Personal Belongings.

San Francisco, Feb. 26.-One of the heaviest snow storms that has been experienced in many years struck this city yesterday morning. The wind gained in great velocity, blowing forty-five miles an hour in the city, while at Point Reyes it reached sixty miles an hour at 7:30

Ships dragged their anchors or broke their moorings at the docks, a fishing boat was capsized, and telephone and electric wires were down, and awnings, trees and fences were wrecked and pedestrians were greatly inconvenienced. Telegraphic communication with the outside world was cut off. The full force of the storm was felt on the bay and the bar was so rough that vessels were unable to The transport Solace, with nothing but 300 tons of coal to keep her down, broke from her anchorage off Beale street and careened about the bay like a drunken sailor, narrowly missing several collisions.

The transports Hancock and Rosecrans, which arrived from Manila last night, remained in the stream. No effort was made to land their passengers.

The San Francosco lightship No. 70, located seven miles from Point Lohos, parted her moorings during the storm and was soon drifting towards the harbor, which she finally made. At the time she went adrift the wind was blowing at the rate of seventy miles an hour. Three three-story houses were blown down in the Mission district.

The gale, as it swept over the Presidio reservation, left in its trail wreck and rulu. The signal officers of the reservation say that at one time during the morning the wind was blowing at the rate morning the wind was blowing at the rate of sixty miles an hour.

Dozens of tents were wrenched from their positions, and after being earried high in the air, were landed yards away, where they were afterwards gathered up by the rain-soaked soidiers, who had fought hard to save them. The majority of the tents simply collapsed under pressure of the wind.

To the soldiers the wreek of the tents

To the soldiers the wreck of the tents was a serious affair, for the majority of them had all their possesions under the tents and before they could collect them they were thoroughly soaked by the rain. In the residence portion of the city bordering on the military reservation much damage was done to high fences and lofty chimneys.

Professor McAdie, of the weather bureau, made the following statement:

"Yesterday's recorded pressure was barely one inch more than that at the time of the Galveston storm, a year ago. The pressure at that time was 28.48, which is the lowest ever recorded in the United States.

"The wind at 9:45 yesterday morning was blowing at the rate of forty-four miles an hour, and the direction was southeast. The storm will spread over the entire country west of the Rocky mountains. Southeast storm warnings was the country was allowed to th were hoisted yesterday morning along the entire coast from Eureka to San Diego. "I am afraid that the storm will do considerable mischief at sea. There may be danger also along the rising rivers. The river at Marysville is 15.4 feet, at Sacramento it is 23.6 feet, and at Red Bluff it is 25.8 feet. The heavy showers of last night and this morning will send the rivers higher."

WORD DIRECT.

Miss Stone Cables Her Brother Telling of Her Release.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 26.-The first message from Miss Eilen M. Stone, the missionary, to her family and friends was received last night by her brother, Charles A. Stone, of Cheisea, Mass. The telegram told of her release by the brigands and her warm welcome by Bulgarian friends in the village of Strumitza. Prior to the receipt of this message Mr. Stone received a dispatch from Salonica from M. Gargiulo, the first dragonan of the American legation, as follows: lows:

"Lilferated Saturday: night, village Gradishar, near Strumitza, where village mayor led them 9 o'clock Sunday. Coming Salonica tonight with House."

Then came the long-looked-for message from the absent daughter and sister. It read:

"Plattoyatz Fab. 25, 1902: Charles A.

ter. It read:

"Ristovatz, Feb. 25, 1902: Charles A. Stone, Chelsea, Mass.:

"Freed thank God; and well after our captivity of nearly six months. Yesterday, Sabbath morning, Mrs. Tsilka and her seven weeks' old daughter Elena and I found ourselves left by our abductors near a village an hour distant from windita. For three hours we waited for dawn, when secured horses and came to this city. Kind-hearted Bulgarians rushed from their houses as soon as they caught a glimpse of the strange appearing travelers, took us in their arms from our horses, with tears and smlles and words of welcome, and led us into their house. Word was quickly sent to the friends engaged in their morning service at church and they came, old and young, to greet us. What thanksgiving to God for this proof of His faithfulness to answer their prayers for all—even the little children—had never ceased to pray for us, their lost friend, 'Since that hour our waking time has been crowded with friends from the city and surrounding villages who have brought us their heartfelt congratulations for our deliverance. The Turkish government did not fail to question us as to our experiences. The governor of government did not fail to question us as to our experiences. The governor of the city with his suite called this morning and again this afternoon after the arrival of Dr. House and his son from Salonica, accompanied by M Gargiulo, the first dragoman of the American ambassy at Constantinople. The last three have come to accompany us to Salonica tomorrow, where Mr. Tsilka awaits his have come to accompany us to Salonica tomorrow, where Mr. Tsilka awaits his long lost wife and their baby. They have been brought a bundle of letters from mother and my brothers and dearest friends. Thus with unspeakable gratitude to God and to all friends who by prayers and gifts have helped to free us, we begin our life of freedom. Your sister,

ELLEN M. STONE."

Strumitza, Macedonia, Feb. 26.—M, Tsilka, husband of Mme. Tsilka, Miss Stone's companion in captivity, went to the railroad station at Salonika in the hope of accompanying the party of M. Gargiulo, dragoman of the American legation, to this place. But the Turkish authorities refused him permission to do so, saying they suspected him of conniving at the capture of Miss Stone.

Miss Stone and Mme. Tsilka are quartered at the residence of Mr. Kimoff, a Protestant pastor, where they greeted M. Gargiulo and Mr. House, the missionary, with considerable emotion. Here they presented Mme. Tsilka's baby and the man who had found them on the mountains at Gradacher to M. They were hidden in the daytime and were hurried along at night blindfolded and horseback. Upon one occasion Miss Stone's horse fell and she was thrown to the ground, but escaped with a badly bruised knee.

At Strumitza the ladies have been busily engaged in making dresses for themselves and for the baby. When they were found, they were clad in native costumes and shepherd's cloaks. The baby had no proper clothes, but was swaddled in pieces of rough material such as the mountaineers use for leggings. The baby has not suffered from the vigors of the winter.

Then the laws were improved and her divorce rate was no worse than that of some states in the East; but for some unexplained reason divorces of late have increased rapidly. In 1899 there were granted no less than 4031 divorces, and 4699 in the year 1900. In the last year the ratio of divorces to the marriages of the same year became 1 to 5.7 for the entire state.

THE IRON ORE TAXES.

With the fate of the tax bill settled, the legislature will take up the question of framing constitutional amendments that will enable the next legislature to frame a just and equitable system of taxation in accordance with the most advanced ideas on the subject-provided, of course, that the people approve the amendments submitted to vote. The constitution requires that a majority of all the votes cast at the election are necessary to make valid any amendment to the constitution, and consequently the amendments would not take effect if a majority of the persons voting on them voted in votes cast at the election. Many people in the past have refrained from and for that reason they have failed to carry, but in view of the importance of the tax amendments they would sion was not appointed to frame a code | probably be voted on by nearly every one going to the polis.

It is stated that there is a strongdisposition on the part of many members of the legislature to offer an amendment that would permit the imposition of a tonnage tax on iron mines and divert all the revenue into the state treasury. This is a proposition in which Duluth and St. Louis county have a vital interest. The adoption of such a policy by the state would mean disaster and ruin to the towns on the iron ranges which derive most of their revenue for the conduct of the village and city governments and the schools from the taxes on the iron mines. It would also deprive the treasury of St. Louis county of a large sum annually, and to that extent increase the already heavy burden of taxation borne by other propthe commission-lack of constitutional erty in the county. The results of such a change in the system of taxation are appalling to contemplate.

It would be a gross injustice to the people of St. Louis county if the legislature diverted this revenue into the state treasury. The state now reties of the highwayman who holds a revolver at your head and forces you to give up your money and other valuables. It would be just as fair for St. Louis county to demand that all the taxes on farming lands be turned into the state treasury and the farming countles be obliged to raise the revenue they need for school and county purposes by an increased tax gross injustice on St. Louis county.

ABITTES GAME OF BLUFF, BY B M. MEY WOOD,

When John Lester married pretty Nina Gorden society shook its head and murmured audibly:

"The bride was much too pretty and gay for the wife of a grave man devoted to the breeding of horses and his dogs. It was an ill-sorted match, and good John Lester-ah, well, time would tell." If any of these whispers came to his ears John Lester gave no thought to them, for what man in love ever does Yvette Guilbert says her new book tells the truth about Paris. If this be so, it should be barred from the mails.

The Omaha News notes that eggs have fallen ten cents in that city, but that "hutter continues strong."

them, for what man in love ever does stop to think? He put the same tremendous energy and determination to win into his lovemaking that characterized all his undertakings.

With Nina Gorden marriage had been the result of a whim, brought about by opposition. All her friends told her that "she should not marry Jack Lester, that they were totally unsuited to each other," and that was precisely why she did—and that "Nina Gorden was mercenary."

The honeymoon, that ecstatic period when no one is ever expected to be sensible, passed after the manner of honeymoons, and John Lster brought his wife home. It was so good to be there; now they could settle down to quiet happiness in the great house whose gardens, parks and vast acreage was the pride of his heart.

a But somehow after she had gone nothing went with him as it used to; his old happy-go-lucky content was gone. He missed his pretty blue-eyed Nina, for with all her faults he loved her, and "if the were more perfect" he reasoned to with all her faults he loved her, and "If she were more perfect," he reasoned to himself, "she might not suit me so well." As for Nina Lester, she was having a greater social triumph than even before her marriage. She was besieged with attentions. The pretty Mrs. Lester was the favorite of the hour.

No smart function could be held without ther, and Col. Tom Appleby followed her No smart function could be held without her, and Col. Tom Appleby followed her everywhere. She fascinated him, and in looking at her pretty blue eyes, and white skin, and little red mouth, he forget everything but her. Society shrugged its shoulders and wondered "where John Lester was."

ter was."

When at last the unwelcome gossip drifted to his ears John Lester smiled, a slow smile.

"Tom Appleby always was a good-natured, blundering fool," he said; "a long-haired poodle ready to be led around by a string. So Nina is trundling him about, is she? Weil, I shall have to see about it."

Late the next afternoon Nina was out driving with a gay party when a turn in the road brought them face to face with a fine turnout in which were seated a large, well set-up than and a beautiful girl.

in the great house whose gardens, parks and vast acreage was the pride of his heart.

The dogs leaped upon him and yelped out their delight at his return. The horses rubbed their soft noses against him and whinnied their welcome. The faces of the servants beamed with pleasure, and John Lester's cup of happiness was bubbling over. He did not even notice that Nina was less lively than usual, nor that her manner was a trifle abstracted. All her life had been passed in the gay distractions of the social world. She was just beginning to realize that perhaps she had stepped outside of it, and the thought appalled her. "She, with her beauty and her love of gayety, to be buried here;" she shivered and her pretty brows drew together in a frown. A tear even dimmed the lustre of her big blue eyes.

How should she ever live her life out in this awful desolation? She was afraid of the dogs. She cared nothing for the horses. The simple country pleasures about her she ridiculed and despised. Newport at the height of the season was her sole idea of country life; but for her several days and then sent for him. He her sole idea of country life; but for her hasty marriage she might have been there now. "Oh, why had she been so blind? But she would beg John to take here

"Ah, Jack," she said, "my dear old Jack, you take life much too seriously. You spend too much time fussing over your horses, your dogs, and your pet stock. Why not leave them to your steward and take me to Newport, where mamma and the girls are? We are young; why should we not have the gayety and pleasure which our age and position demand, and to which I am accustomed?"

John Lester shook his head in a troubled

John Lester shook his head in a troubled way.

"Why, Nina," he said, "we are just married, and I should think being with me would be pleasure enough for you, that you would not want any one else, at least for the present, little woman. That is the way I feel about you, and besides at this time of the year I cannot leave my horses. Much as I love them I am not in the horse business just for amusement. They keep the pot a boiling, and my next shipment must be carefully watched over, for there are thousands of dollars in it for you and me."

"John too much occupied to even come at her entreaty; would wonders ever cease?" When she went down to the morning room to see him she was struck at the change in him. His manner was hurried and abstracted. He shook hands with her in a perfunctory way and instantly let her hand fall.

"You sent for me, Nina," he said, "but I should have come today anyway." She brightened visibly at that, but there was positive anguish in her big blue eyes as he continued: "Not that I cared especially to see you—"
"Don't, Jack. don't!" she gasped, but he went on unheeding. that you would not want any one else, at least for the present, little woman. They keep the pot a boiling, and my next shipment must be carefully watched over, for there are thousands of dollars in it for you and me."

Nina Lester was silenced, but not appeased. She wrote to her mother, and in a few days that lady made her appearance, and then, if ever a man was badgered and made miserable. John Lester was that man. In the end he saw his wife drive away for a little visit, as she called did come about, would perhaps prove no danger at all, but rather a blessing in disguise. I do not look upon these movements in the financial world as being always directed against the interests of the people among whom they are to be exploited. There is such a thing as legitimate enterprise, undertaken, of exploited. There is undertaken, or gitimate enterprise, undertaken, or course, with a view to profit, where the public interests are subserved, without a formal declaration on the part of the formal declaration on the part of the promoters of all the necessary details incident to the development of the enterprise. There are secrets of finance as well as of trade, which the public have no right to know, other than as they reveal themselves, in the order of subsequent events. Were the rule otherwise, capital would be still more timid as to proposed investments, and would flow proposed investments, and would flow on in channels where no such dangers were to be found. I notice these agitators have already succeeded in depreciating the value of the stocks of the three great lines of roads centering in our state, and for what really valuable purpose? Who is benefited by such reduction of values? It was only yesterday that I saw paraded in great leaded headlines the fact that the stocks of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Burlington, as well as those of the Northern Securities company, had declined from 2 to 5 per cent in Wall street. Who are the gainers by such loss of value? Certainly not the people of this state who are largely dependent for their annual revenue by such loss of value? Certainly not the people of this state who are largely dependent for their annual revenue upon the prosperity of its railroads. I impeach no man's honesty of intention in regard to those matters. Many good and worthy citizens are favorable to the proceedings in contemplation, and now actually pending as to the so-called merger fight. I do not, however, believe that all so engaged have looked all around the subject. Besides, there is evidently some malice enlisted in this controversy, and perhaps some politics, too, I merely suggest the view. It may be that all this effort aimed at the Great

LET IT ALONE.

Northern road and its officials is the result of state pride and pure patriotism. Why their efforts are directed against our most distinguished citizen, by resorting to caricature and personal abuse, I caunot for myself see. Now that the merger matter is in the hands of the courts let us patiently await results. If great wrongs are to be visited upon the people of this state, a remedy will surely be provided. Do not let us undertake to cross the stream until we get to it. Everything will come out all right in the end, unless we hinder it by our own acts. The Northwest needs both capital and enterprise to complete its destiny. It needs strong, bold men, of broad views, with money behind them and a people around them, that will not defeat results by an anticipated series of objections, urged before measures are actually begun. In that way only can great enterprises be accomplished. We have the country and the men able to provide the means and why not let them alone when they are doing it.

REMNANT DAY THURSDAY.

For several months we have allowed the remnants from the Silk, Dress Goods, Lining, Linen, Wash Goods and Flannel Departments to accumulate. The result is that the tremendous selling in these departments has made more remnants than we can accommodate and use our sales tables as we wish to use them at this season of the year. On Thursday we will clear the sales tables in the left aisle and display the greatest showing of remnants The New Store has ever shown at any one time. Friday morning must find our regular goods on these tables and the remnants out of the way. We have marked the remnants, so that one day's showing will close out the entire lot. Remember if you want them, come Thursday; you will want some of them when you see the prices.

visability of keeping people off it. There were a number of skaters out yesterday afternoon and this morning an ice yacht was out. The life saving crew and police are keeping a close watch on the lake and bay fearing some accident. The ice companies are looking forward to colder weather during March,

Commissioner Patterson After

sheriff's office went on the salary basis, the deputies, and particularly Chief Deputy Dash, have had occasion to ask the commissioners for many office supplies. Sheriff Sargent naturally moved out the articles that belonged to him. So Mr. Patterson has had drawn up a resolution which he is going to have read at next Tuesday's meeting of the county board as a take-off on the requisitions from the sheriff's office. The deputies know a good thing when they see it, even if it is on themselves, and are smilling as broad. Y as anybody. The resolution is as follows:

Resolved, that the sheriff of the county be and he is hereby directed to cause ail prospecting on all sides. They need oil be and he is hereby directed to cause all deputy sheriffs now and hereafter to be employed by the county to wear uniforms, which said uniforms the said deputies are to furnish at their own expense on or before the first day of May, A. D.

The uniform of the chief deputy to be a coat of green serge with three stripes of yellow encircling the upper portion of the arm and a yellow or light red star to be embroidered on the left breast of the said coat. Otherwise the said uniform of the chief deputy shall be in all respects the same as the uniforms of the espects the same as the uniforms of the other deputies, as hereinafter described,

The said uniforms are to be prepared as respects the same as the uniforms of the other deputies, as hereinafter described, to-wit:

The coat to consist of a dark green serge with a heavy gold embroidered collar, with two rows of brass buttons running down the bresst of said coat and having two rows of brass buttons running down the coat tails; on the left breast of said coat shall be a white emhroidered star, to denote the fact that the wearer is a deputy sheriff and that he may be able to show his authority without the process of unbuttoning his coat to show his star (nothing in this resolution, however, to be construed as to prohibit the said deputies from wearing a star underneath their said coat.)

The trousers of the said uniform to be of the same material as the said coat, with white stripes down the sides of the same and to have straps adjusted at the bottom to prevent the same becoming baggy at the knees and the right hip pocket to be made of leather for the purpose of holding a revolver, which said hip pocket must be amply wide enough so that the said revolver may be extracted with ease, in case of emergency.

The cap of the said deputies to be practically the same as the kind worn by the policemen of the city of Duluth, excepting that there shall be a nickle plated tag sewed on the front part of said caps, bearing the words "Deputy Sheriff."

To insure the payment of the said uniforms the said sheriff is hereby authorized and directed to hold out the sum of $25 out of the April pay of the said deputies, until the said deputies shall have turned over a receipt for the payment of the said uniforms to the board of county commissioners of the county.

Alarm Time Piece Saves the Life of Two People.

An alarm clock, assisted by a physiclan, saved the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bush this morning. Escaping gas from a cook stove neary asphyxiated both in their home at 340 St. Croix avenue. The alarm clock went off, wakening Mr. Bush, who was barely able to get to the door and summon assistance. Mrs. Bush was completely overcome by the poisonous gas and for hours it was thought she would not survive. Shortly before noon, however, the attending physician pronounced her out of danger, though he said she would feel

OIL CAUGHT FIRE.

Overflow From a Knox County Well Blazes For Miles.

Barbourville, Ky., Feb. 26.-The off which escaped from the Wage gusher and overflowed Richland creek caught fire Sunday evening and was extinguished with much difficulty. When first struck it was impossible to place the drill under control, and after the tanks had been filled a large amount of oil was lost. This oil ran into Richland creek, which flows within a short distance of the well, and extended several miles down the creek. Sunday after-noon somebody threw a match into the stream about three miles below the well, and immediately the water became an immense sheet of flame, which spread rapidly up the stream. A short the flames was checked, after much hard work, and the well was saved. This well, which was drilled by the Atlantic & Pacific company, came in last Tuesday evening, and is located within a half mile of the Jones well. Several oil men gave it as their opinion that this well is the best one that has been drilled

You see advertisements offering stock for 5c, 10c to 25c per share in propositions capitalized all the way up to two million in a field where they are going to get oil, and with properties where they are soon to get oil. They are always going to strike oil. But the Carnegie Oil Co. are not SOON GOING to strike oil, but THEY HAVE STRUCK OIL already and are drilling for more.

The public recognizes the difference and are showing their faith in a management which starts work before offering their shares to the public, by buying Carnegie shares at 5c per share. Do you know that the large cities are blazing with interest in Kentucky? Do you know that the Standard Oil Company and Guffey & Galey have leased 1,000,000 acres in Kentucky? Do you know that Kentucky can show twenty practical oil men spending their own money to develop oil properties to any other new section of the world that can show one practical oil man spending his own money? WARNING TO WOMEN

Commercial Pursuits Jeopardizing Welfare of Future Mothers.

Prof. Kiehle Touches Popular Feeling Among Superintendents.

Women In Industrial Field Will Bring Disaster Later.

Chicago, Feb. 26.-A warning note that women and girls in this country were being drawn into commercial and manufacturing pursuits to an extent that jeopardized the welfare of future mothers and was a menace to a happy home life, was sounded by Pfofessor D. L. Kiehle of the chair of pedagogy in the University of Minnesota, before the department of superintendents of the National Educational association now in convention here. His address touched a popular feeling in the minds of the thousand or more educators from all points of the compass, and that portion stating that home life and surroundings were above all sordid gain "In this age of commercialism and industrial conditions," said Professor Kiehle, "no provision has been made for motherhood. This phase of life seems to have been brushed aside. In fact, we are making money earners of our daughters in commercial pursuits. "While women have every right to an equality with men in matters of education, they are going outside their sphere when that portion of their education fitting them for the higher duties of homelife and motherhood does not take precedence of everything

"Education for women that began only a few years ago on elementary lines has extended to technical and classical courses and has enabled women to compete for places formerly filled by men who supported families in many instances. The continuation of women entering the commercial and industrial field cannot but have disastrous results in time, unless something is done to provide for a home life also for women and the tendency to enter the office and factory is checked."

Senor Zayas Begins Arguments In Behalf of the Prisoner.

Reeves, the former dep-uty auditor and in so discrediting him, his discredit W. H. Reeves, the former deputy auditor and in so discrediting him, his testimony should have no weight. The prosecution's case rested, he said, largely on evidence bearing the government stamp, official reports and facts and figures furnished by Washington, yet, in the reports of the secretary of war and the postmaster general of receipts and expenditures, in the department of Cuba, there was a difference of $103,000 in expenditures and that the experts' reports differed from both of these. He spoke at length on the extradition of Neely and said the case was illegal from the start. Under Spanish law, he contended the court had no right to ask for the extradition of Neely.

"The fiscal has claimed," concluded Senor Zayas "that the United States postal code covers the cases hut that code cannot annul our laws on extradition."

ONLY A SUGGESTION,

But It Has Proven to Interest and Value of Thousands. Common sense would suggest that if one wishes to become fleshy and plump it can only result from the food we eat and digest, and that food should be albuminous or flesh-forming food, like eggs, heefsteak and cereals; in other words, the kind of food that make flesh are the foods which form the greater part of our daily bills of fare.

This is the trip proposed five years hence by New York, Scattle, Denver and Washington capitalists, engineers and explorers who have completed the preliminary work and have arranged to start the building of the Trans-Alaskan railroad on April 15. This line, which will be $50 miles in length, will open up one of the richest countries in the world. More interesting and spectacular than that is the certainty of its making what will be practically an all-rail route to Asia.

D. S. Granger, a Seattle capitalist, who was for many years connected with the Burlington road, and J. C. Cornforth, of Denver and Skaguay, have spent the past five years on the project. But the trouble is that while we eat Almost Caused Death of a Rock Island, Ill., Feb. 26.—A man's "practical joke" on his wife at a christening party in this city Monday night all but ended fatally for the woman. The joker, a large and powerful man, while in a happy frame of mind from the frequency with which he had drunk the newly named infant's health, picked up his young wife and carried her out of the house. Finding a rope, he tied one end around the woman's neck, threw the other end over the limb of a tree, and then pulled his wife from the ground. Fastening the loose end of the rope, he returned to the party.

The "fun" was too good to keep, and he confided it to a friend, telling him he had played a joke on his wife. An investigation resulted in the woman being cuadown just in time to prevent her death by strangulation. She was unconscious for some time.

Cavalier—One of the most cowardly acts known to the settlers of this region was perpetrated one night last week, when several husky men surprised Joseph St. Onge, an aged hermit, bound him hand and foot, and under the plea of insarty, took him before the authorities at Jamestown. St. Inge is one of the oldest settlers in this part of the state, and being alone in the world, obtained permission from Eli Jerome to live on his homestead for the remainder of his life. Shortly after Jeorme died and St, Onge continued to live in the shack. He is known to have molested no one, and frequently neighbors confided the care of their children to him when making trips to the city. Several,

RHEUMATISM A Demon of Pain Rheumatism seems to take a fiendish delight in torturing its victims. No mode of punishment ever invented by man, or practiced by devil-possessed savage, has caused more bodily suffering, such deep, racking pains, as this pitiless disease. Rheumatism leaves in its trail distorted muscles, crooked and misshapen joints and limbs, and the intense pain and agony endured is reflected in the haggard and furrowed countenance of the sufferer. Rheumatism makes us grow old and decrepid before our time, and many an one in the full vigor of manhood has been suddenly stricken by this ruthless disease, and made almost as helpless and dependent as an infant.

REPEATED FAILURES, THEN RELIEF.

Mr. Wm. L. Hill, of Winston, N. C., at one

Chained to the invalid's chair or hobbling about on crutches, and continually tormented with pain, the patient in desperation resorts to the use of opiates, which deaden the pain but lead to ruinous habits. There is no disease so aggressive and stubborn as Rheumatism after it becomes well intrenched or fixed in the system, and no liniment or other external application can check it or do any permanent good. Rheumatism is not due to outside influences or causes, but is a constitutional disease, an internal inflammation produced by a too acid condition of the blood. Waste matter that should have been cast out of the body is retained, fermentation takes place, Uric, Lactic and other acids form and are absorbed into the blood, and as it circulates through the system every joint, membrane, tissue and nerve is saturated with these corrosive, irritating acids; when exposure to cold and damp or a spell of indigestion will bring on a fierce attack that almost takes the breath by its suddenness and severity. The parts affected become inflamed and swollen, and every movement is attended with pains that seem to cut like a knife into the tender flesh and nerves. After Rheumatism becomes chronic there is always a soreness and weakness of the back and dull ways a soreness and weakness of the back and dull throbbing pains in the muscles and joints and an ever increasing stiffness of the limbs. This Demon of Pain attacks the old and young, the strong and the weak—no one is exempt, but from middle life to old age is the time when its assaults become most frequent and severe. At this period the vital energies begin to wane, the blood grows weak and thin, and is easily chilled, the circulation becomes uncertain and slow and there is scarcely a moment's freedom from pain in some part of the body.

The treatment of Rheumatism must be internal; some remedy that can reach and neutralize the poisonous acids and cleause the circulation. S. S. S., a purely vegetable medicine, acts promptly and surely in all Rheumatic cases, purifying and invigorating the impoverished blood, eradicating all impurities from the system, and sending a stream of rich new blood to wash out the irritating particles that are causing the inflammation and pains. In chronic cases, or those developing late in life, S. S. S. is especially effective; it warms and enriches the blood, restores nervous energy and stimulates the failing organs, improves the appetite and digestion, and builds up the general health, thus fortifying the system against the tortures of Rheumatism. Alkalies, Potash and mineral remedies have an opposite effect, destroying the delicate lining of the stomach and often permanently impairing the constitution. S. S. S. is guaranteed entirely vegetable, and a specific in all Rheumatic troubles. Our Physicians will gladly advise, without charge, all who write them about their case, and we will mail free our special THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga. book on Rheumatism.

MARRIED FOR MONEY

Charlie Jahn Did Not Get It and Wants Divorce.

His Wife Won Him With Promises of Her Wealth.

Now Both Would Be Released From Marital Bonds.

Des Moines, Feb. 26.-"I married her for her money, because she wanted me to and promised it to me, and then didn't Charles O. Jahn, of this city, who asks courts to compel his wife to divide near the little town of Cive. She also has about $10,000 in government bonds in the bank and this, together with other property, makes her worth between $25,000 and $30,000. She is a middle-aged woman, and $30,000. She is a middle-aged woman, with four grown-up sons, but about a year ago she was wedded to one of her farm hands. Charles Jahn by name, 22 years old; and the marital life together of ten days gave rise to the domestic trag-edy which the district court of Poth county is asked to avenge.

Some weeks ago Margaret G Jain filed sult in the courts here asking divorce from her husband, Charles O. Jahn, alleging that they had been married in Fort Dodge, Iowa, July 5, 1901, and lived together just a month; that her husband refused to support her and threatened to deprive her of her thousands by suits in court; also that he is still playing the gallant with unmarried ladles and taking them to parties, balls, receptions and the like, returns to his wife and tells her of the favors the fair sex shower upon him. The petition was duly docketed and attracted no attention until last week, when the husband filed his answer in court, and disclosed a startling condition of affairs and asked that his wife be compelled to pay him allmony and keep him, although he is young, strong and able to work.

Jahn's answer is novel; it is unique in Jahn's answer is novel; it is unique in court annals. He admits that they were duly married but claims that only ten days after the wedding ceremony the two sons of his wife by a former marriage (Joseph and Fred Rawson and a son-in-law, Frank Parky) set upon him on his own farm (by marriage) and beat him up own farm (by marriage) and beat him up so that he crept away a disabled wreck, with the command ringing in his ears to leave forever or be beaten up again if he ever approached his wife or her property again. He leads off by stating that he is only 22 years old, whereas his wife is 50, and has four grown children (the youngest of whom is past 8 years) and that he should not be made to keep himself because his wife has money. Continuing with his tale of woe his court paper says: paper says:
"That in the spring of 1901 the defendant (Jahn) was employed by the plaintiff (the present Mrs. Jahn) and her said son he could have it all. That by these and other devices and representations plaintiff (the present Mrs. Jahn) moved the defendant to go with her first to Osceola, where she falled to get a license and then to Fort Dodge, where the ceremony was performed, as before admitted, the plaintiff paying all the expenses, including the license and wedding fee, the railway and hotel bills, sending defendant out to the farm first that it might be suspected that they had been away together."

Jahn claims that their married bilss lasted for just ten days, from July 5 of last year to July 15 when his wife's sons and son-la-law set upon him, beat him up and drove him from the premises. That was bad enough but now his wife sues Sane Woman at Asygrown-up children.

So Jahn contests the divorce application and asks the court to give him alimony and make his wife divide her property with him as she promised to do before they were wed; for in an affidavit filed this week he continues his claims for allmony by saying:

The weather map this morning shows the mildest temperatures of the season and no prospect of colder. Pacific coast reports delayed, but press advices report very heavy storms at San Francisco. There is no precipitation shown in the Northwest, West and Southwest, but it is generally cloudy and rain is predicted by the department for Kansas.

J. R. Watson, Chicago—Very serious crop damage reports are multiplying. They are coming today from Kansas, Nebraska, Indiana and Tennessee. Other states will soon be heard from. The market wal probably respond to these reports in considerably higher prices. Kansas City wires—"Sunor and Russell counties, Kansas, are sending in bad reports on wheat. They say wheat is in vary poor condition. The fine weather is just showing this fact up."

demand is at present fully equal to the supply. We are pretty near the season of the bad roads when the receipts will be practically nothing. Corn is on a shipping basis.

Oats—There was a better demand for July and September oats yesterday. Oats seem as scarce as contract corn. We are not likely to have at any time heavy receipts. Waldorf to W. H. Laidley & Co.—There is little change in speculative feeling and indications are for a market of specialis little change in speculative leeling and indications are for a market of specialities until the status of the Northern Securities company has been passed upon by the federal supreme court. To a very large extent the discouragement caused by President Roosevelt's move against the company is due to what now appears to be the mistaken belief that the legal proceedings will be long drawn out. From a high authority the writer learns that so far as possible the suit will be expedited. Testimony will be taken with reasonable haste and when obtained will be considered by the court with as little delay as possible. On this knowledge is based the prediction that within four months the Northern Securities company will be legalized. This is also the opinion of the bankers most directly interested in the new corporation. There are grounds for the statement that the visit of J. P. Morgan and William Rockefeller to Washington this week was not for the purpose of deterring the administration from bringing suit, but to make personal request of the authorities that it be brought and decided without delay, which would be detrimental both as regards Wall street and general business.

A FALSE REPORT.

Belgrade, Servia, Feb. 26.—There is no foundation for a rumor which emanated from Budapest that the king of Servia has been assassinated. Operators acquainted with the above circumstances say that they warrant the purchase of good railroads on all reactions, but advise disorimination against the franchise tax properties, the shares of which are slow to respond to the manipulated rise in Brooklyn Rapid Transit. Probably some unfavorable changes in the monetary situation will be made the pretext for a bear shakeout within a day or two and give intending purchasers a chance to buy at lower prices.

Boston, Feb. 26.—Tri-Mountain manipulation continues and prices were lifted to a new record of 125 with subsequent reaction to 108. As this stock is held, it is practically a corner and therefore while we do not believe in it we think one is foolish to go short of it. There is much more distribution in copper consolidation, and while we do not look for any such advance we think it is likely to be the most active stock among the local coppers and think the insiders will assist the advance whenever the opportunity affords. Leathers loved the river as ho loved the breath of life. It was to him a place of abode. He almost began there, and he lived on the river for the greater part of his life and he almost died on the hurricane deck. For all of his 60 years, Thomas P. Leathers was a part of the river. "Tom Leathers" and the Mississippi were synonymous terms. He saw poker games which would make the hair of the greatest gambler rise a little; he saw more money on the table at once than any other man, and he also saw the tragedies of the game, the disagreements which resulted in the loss of life. Five boats with the name Natchez on the flag are at the bottom of the great river which cuts the continent in two. They are scattered all the way from New Orleans to Memphis, and in their holds is buried much of the river history; much of the story of the days gone by; of the days when there was something else to life beside the pursuit of money; when men and women enjoyed themselves; of the days when there was dancing and song on the deck at night, and laughter and song during the day; of the days which are gone never to return; of the days before the railroads changed all the romance into something akin to the sordid side of existence. Smells Nice

Omega Oil

You can tell by the smell of Omega Oil that it is different from any other liniment you ever saw. It has a peculiar and pleasant odor. Besides being the best remedy in the world for stopping pains, it is also the nicest to use. It is not made of turpentine or ammonia, but the body of it is a pure vegeta-ble oil. Into this oil is put four other ingredients, one of which is a green herb that stops pain a good deal on the same principle that a puff of wind blows out a lamp, or water quenches a fire. Omega Oil is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for.

roads, the next legislature will have to do away with any direct state tax, and thus eliminate forever the dispute between the cities and the country on tax matters. He offered this bill to get a united delegation from St. Louis county, and he hoped the gentlemen from Duluth would not oppose his request for unanimous consent to introduce the bill. Mr. Laybourn said that St. Louis county was for any good legislation, whether it came from Lac Qui Parle or any other county, and he had no obfection to the bill being introduced. There was applause at this, and the bill was introduced. It was made a special order for Friday morning. Mr. Smith, of Hennepin county, wanted his constitutional convention bill passed under suspension of the rules, but his motion was lost. Mr. Pennington wanted the Baldwin constitutional amendments, which the judiciary committee had reported for indefinite postponement, laid on the table, but the house refused to grant his request. Mr. Anderson then introduced three tax bills, one providing for an in-commission appointve, instead of elective, and said that this was a curative act to correct the mistake of the legislature that made the office elective. His motion to pass the bill under suspension of the rules was voted down. A number of new bills were introduced and many old ones, including a lot of senate files, were passed. The judiciary committee reported a new set of constitutional amendments, which will be considered in a day or two. charged with grand larceny in the first The house adjourned until tomorrow

The senate held a short session this morning during which Senator Mc-Gowan sprung a resolution that the senate adjourn sine die, because it had spent three fruitless weeks waiting for the tax bill that was never to come from the house. Senator Daugherty gave notice of dehate and the motion went over to tomorrow under the rules. New bills introduced in the senate today were: Sivright-Fixing the salary of the recording clerk in office of secretary of Mrs. state at $1200 per year. The senate committee on taxes held a meeting after the session today and decided to report the Sivright bill for a constitutional amendment allowing the legislature to levy a tonnage tax en ores with a recomendation that it be referred to the judiciary committee. It places no limitation upon the power of the legislature as to maximum or minimum amount that may be levied. The senate committee on the Bobleter bill held a meeting at the Windsor hotel this afternoon to investigate the merits of the measure. It has been intimated that the senate may adopt a compromise measure, relieving Col. Bobleter of the $1500 he has yet to pay, but retaining in the state trea-ferent shades. At least they could have anything that was given the Twin City jobbers. The matter of fixing dates for these excurison rates was left in the hands of the jobbers them-

It is too late to get the benefit of the February excursion rates. It is hoped, however, that arrangements will be completed in time for making the rate effective for the last part of Marci. There will also be a season of merchants' excursion rates in the fall-about three periods at each season. The jobbers found the assistant general passenger agents past masters in the art of courtesy. They learned, also, that the roads have the kindlest feeling toward the commercial interests of Duluth, and want to do all they can to further their progress.

The passenger depatment officials present were C. E. Stone, assistant general passenger agent of the Great Northern; George H. McRae, assistant general passenger agent of the Omaha,

The jobbers asked that the same system of merchants' rates be applied to Duluth as now apply to the Twin Cities. These rates are based on a fare und a fifth for the round trip during three spring and three fall months, and are effective only on a minimum ticket

This throws syestem, and yet, it is said, does not make it cumbersome or inconvenient to those that take advantage of the rates.

The result is that merchants make visits to buying centers much more frequently. They undoubtedly find some noveities to use in their own business, get better acquainted with the people they are doing business with, and, besides resulting in the increase of trade business relations are much pleasanter and trade is carried on along more intelligent lines and with a better understanding on the part of both custom-

The agitation last year for a new payement amounted to practically nothing, other than to get the old, uneven and worn-out cedar paving blocks covered with gravel. The covering was never very satisfactory to the West Duluth merchants, on account of the dust, and aiready bad holes have worn through the covering as more paving blocks underneath liave rotted or been misplaced. The business men are getting restive and it is likely that the campaign for a paved street will break out afresh within a AITKIN TOO PREVIOUS. A recent issue of the Aitkin Age, of Altkin, Minn., contains a very optimistic write-up of the outlook for baseball matters in that city and the Northwest generally the coming season. The article says that the local ball team is already casting its eye around for good material the coming season, and intimates that William Lambert and George Shepard, of West Duluth, who have been mainstays of the Duluth team for a few seasons past, may be seen with the Aitkin team next sunrmer. Both Mr. Lambert and Mr. Shepard, while they admit having been business callers in Aitkin the first of the week, say that the Aitkin paper has been a little too previous in its writeup regarding their plans. The article reads as follows:

Messrs. William Lambert and George Shepard, gentlemen who played with the Duluth first team last year, and made exceptionally good records for themselves, visited Altkin Monday to confer with the boys and if possible secure a building in which to open a tin and hardware shop. They are first-class plumbers and tinsmiths, and desire to locate in a good town and build up a business. They are well pleased with Aitkin and hope to arrange to iocate here. This, with the other available material, will no doubt give Altkin the strongest team in the league."

I have no samples, Any medicine that can affect rheumatism with but a few doses must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs. It is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it and I take this risk. I have cured tens of thousands of cases in this way, and my records show that 39 out of 40 who get these six bottles pay, and gladly. Vital Statistics Show an Alarming Increase in an Aiready Prevailing Disease-Are Any Exempt?

At no time in the history of disease has there been such an alarming increase in the nubmer of cases of any particular malady as in that of kidney and bladder troubles now preying upon the people of this country.

Today we see a relative, a friend or an acquaintance apparently well, and in a few days we may be grieved to learn of their serious illness or sudden death, caused by that fatai type of kidney trouble—Bright's disease. Kidney trouble often becomes advanced into acute stages before the affilicted is aware of its presence; that is why we read of so many sudden deaths of prominent business and pro-fessional men, physicians and others.

They have neglected to stop the leak in

While scientists are puzzling their brains to find out the cause, each individual can, by a little precaution, avoid the chances of contracting dreaded and dangerous kidney trouble, or eradicate it completely from their system if already afflicted. Many precious lives might have been, and many more can yet be saved, by paying attention to the Machine Type= Setters.

Said to be Hard on Operators.

The work of a typesetter in a modern printing office is very exacting, particularly if he runs a linotype or typesetting machine. It requires the closest attention and rapid and sympathetic action of both brain and hand. This machine works much like a typewriter. Such workers fed on ordinary food give up because of nervous prostration, isomet in a short time, and some are able to stand it longer. One of these workers says: "I have been at the linotype three years. It has made a great change in my once robust health. About three months ago, after long expecting it, I completely collapsed, from indigestion and extreme nervousness. The daily physic I had not dared to omit for years, now and then, refused rellef and a physician was consulted. "'Change of occupation and diet,' read the prescription, 'advise eating Grape-Nuts food twice daily.' I had often set up the advertisements of the Postum Cereal Co., but somehow printers are apt to think advertisements are not intended for them to make use of. I could not well change my occupation,

"Since then have used Grape-Nuts, both at breakfast and supper, daily. The results are truly remarkable. The first perceptible change was in the matter of digestion. It has been six weeks since I have had to swallow an aperient of any kind. At the beginning of my experiment with Grape-Nuts I weighed 124 pounds; last evening I tipped the beam at 1571/2.

Prince Takes Informal Lunch In Small Committee Rooms.

Washington, Feb. 27 .- The special train carrying Prince Henry of Prussia, his suite and the American escort made its second trip from New York to Washington on schedule time. It left Jersey City at 1:30 o'clock this morning, and at 9 o'clock rolled into the Pennsylvania depot here. There was delay in the flooded districts of New Jersey, but the train slowed down whenever there was a possibility of danger. Admiral Evans, honorary aide to Prince Henry was indisposed and when he left the train at Washington it was with the intention of resting until the Southern and Western trip commences. The prince was met at the depot by Assistant Secretary of State Perce and Count Quadt of the German embassy and escorted by envalry and police, was driven to the em-

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson also told his highness of a forthcoming volume dealing with German affairs.

The prince expressed his thanks for these courtesies from American authors. As the prince was about to start for the capitol at 11:30 o'clock, an incident occurred showing his democratic manners. When he came down the embassy stairway, a heavy set young man with German features pushed through the brilliantly uniformed throng and saluted immediately in front of his highness. The unexpected visitor, Henry William Haschenburger, of Baltimore, explained that he had served for seventeen months on the German cruiser Irene while Prince Henry commanded the ship. At considerable risk he had overcome all barriers and was within the private quarters of the embassy. Prince Henry seemed to enjoy the salior's enthusiasm. He remembered his service and greeted him most cordialy. Then his highness stepped into the awaiting earriage and with a cheer from the crowd, the party started for the capitol, preceded by the Savalry escort. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson also told his airy escort.

Instead of returning to the German embassy in the interim between the memorial bassy in the inter'm between the memorial services and beginning his trip to Mt. Payments on personal tax collections are coming in so fast at the county treasurer's office that the clerks are all | Controversy Over Erection of tied up. Yesterday the amount of collections on taxes, both real and personal, jumped up to $11,359. Tomorrow is the last day that personal taxes can be paid without the addition of the 10 per cent penalty. There will probably be a great rush of those that have been putting off the payment until a more convenient time should come. It is impossible to ascertain just what proportion of the tax has been paid. The money comes in so rapidly that all the available force of clerks is needed to issue receipts and enter up the payments. A typographical error in the punctuation and capitalization of an advertisement published yesterday about the penalty attaching to the payment of personal taxes made it appear that the penalty did not apply until after Saturday. As a matter of fact, the penalty attaches to all personal taxes not paid before Saturday.

The buying of steel in Germany and England now promises to grow to very considerable proportions, in spite of recent advances abroad. The independent sheet manufacturers at their Boggess in the city hall to accommodate the large crowd anxious to attend the hearing.

It was shown by the testimony that Cross had his wife, the Thompson boy and all the neighbors terrorized, and that they were afraid to say a word about him. Witnesses said that the day before the boy died Cross beat him with a hickory spoke from a wheel and made him carry large buckets of water while the bones of the little fellow's toes protruded through the flesh and independent sheet manufacturers at their meeting at Pittsburg last week, decided to send a commissioner to England and Germany to buy sheet bar and he is now on the way. The Steel corporation is also a buyer abroad of steel melting scrap, and the importation of low phosporous scrap by open hearth plants is likely to reach a round tonnage by the toes protruded through the flesh and rubbed on his old shoes.

One witness says he saw the boy walking on his heels, and asked him what was the matter and the lad contained t from 150,009 to 200,000 tons of foreign steel will be needed this year to supplement the domestic output. Plants under construction and plans on foot will give a very considerable increase in our open hearth enpacity, but only a minor portion of it will be available this year. In the foundry iron market the feeling that has been growing for some weeks among consumers gave evidence of added excitement in the past week and the business closed has been very heavy. This has been almost entirely for delivery in the second haif of the year. Many buyers are influenced by the difficulty of getting iron already ordered and the practical impossibility of finding even carlots of foundry Iron for delivery before July 1. They seem to feel that this condition will be encountered in the second half, though it is well understood that furnace output will be great as time passes, also that railroad trouble will disappear to a large extent. Poison is commonly called the king of venereal diseases. It may be hereditary or contracted. Once the system is tainted with it, the disease may manifest itself in the form of scrofula, eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, eruptions or copper-colored spots on face or body, little uicers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, swollen tonsils, falling out of the hair or eyebrows, and finally a leprous like decay of the flesh and bones. Sioux Falls—Two dollars a vote is what it cost the taxpayers of Sioux Falls for the special election held a day or two ago for the election of a city justice of the peace. Owing to the sickness of the police justice, the special election was absolutely necessary, as the city was without a justice with jurisdiction to dispose of police cases. Cyrus Walts was the only candidate, and the votes cast for him cost the taxpayers about $2 each, as stated. In view of this, it is probable that the next legislature will be asked to amend the present law as to give mayors power to fill vacancies in the offices of police and city justices.

General Agent Walker's Opinion of Chicago Freight Congestion.

Roads Have Insufficient Motive Power to Move Cars.

Short of Terminal Facilities Also---Congestion Is Enormous.

General Freight Agent Walker, of the South Shore road, returned yesterday from a trip to Chicago and on the line of his own road. Mr. Walker says that the tonnage reports of freight traffic passing through Chicago on its way east are delusive, as far as the car situation is con-

"The reason shipments are falling off," said Mr. Walker, "Is not because there is less freight to move, but because there are not the cars available to move it. I wouldn't say that business is not naturally subsiding, but if that be true there is still more traffic than the roads can handle. So the reports of east bound traffic are likely to be misleading to the general reader. traffic are likely to be misleading to the general reader.

"I talked with the official of one east-bound line about the car situation. He said that he not only had cars to spare, but three 300 cars of freight was then on the Chicago terminals waiting to be transferred from the cars of Western lines to his own equipment.

"The great trouble is not to be attributed alone to the shortage of cars. To my mind, the chief reason is the lack of sufficient power to move the traffic and the lack of adequate terminals for handing the business when it gets to its destination, especially if that destination be one of the great railroad centers, where business is badly congested. All along the lines of many roads the sidings are full of loaded cars, simply waiting for a chance to move.

"The roads are doing the bet they can with the power they have, and are adding locomotives as rapidly as they can get them, but they can't relieve the situation that has been growing ever since the panic times. For five years, the rail roads of the country not only did not add to their equipment, but actually did not make good the natural diminution in rolling stock. The regular depreciation was charged off on their books, while no new equipment was bought to take its place. It takes some time to make good simply the natural loss. In the meantime, traffic has grown enormously.

the natural loss. In the meantime, traffic has grown enormously.

"Nobody had foreseen it. If an operating man had gone to his directors and asked for the money to provide sufficient equipment to take care of the present volume of freight traffic, the chances are that instead of being considered a genius, which he would have been in the light of later events, he would have been looked upon as enough of a lunatic to be unfitted for holding his job.

"The situation will gradually be remedied, but it is going to take time at the present rate of progress. I was told while away that the Hocking Vaney road has the sidings all along its line crowded with cars loaded with coal. It hasn't the power to move all the traffic that it undertakes to haul. I presume that at Chicago, for want of adequate terminal facilities, probably 2000 cars or more remain on the tracks two or three weeks, awaiting transfer. John S. Baker, the envoy extraordinary and "minister" plenipotentiary of the "Baker Orphanage," was arrested late yesterday afternoon.

A warrant for his arrest was issued about a month ago, but Mr. Baker has been making a flurry trip through the state, and at the same time negotiating, through an attorney, to have the charges taken care of without the formality of an arrest. He came back to Duluth on Tuesday evening. By accident he got on the same car with Chief Troyer. The chief

Finally, late in the afternoon the "Orphanage" was called up by tele-phone, and Baker proposed that he be given another day. The chief said no. "You'll have to send out after me, then." said Baker. AUTHOR AND PHYSICIAN

Writes Interesting Tale. The author of "Under Palmetto and Pine," 'Norma Trist," "Four Years on Wheels," etc., Dr. J. W. Carhart, of La Grange, Texas, in addition to his literary efforts is a hard working physician in general practice.

He writes interestingly of how his freedom from heart trouble was gained by leaving off coffee and using Postum in its place. "I drank coffee in the ordinary form for many years; nervous, trouble involving disturbance of the heart's action resulted. "On coming to Texas I fell into the habit of drinking coffee after hard, cold rides in my practice or when in camp or on the trail. My heart trouble soon became exceedingly aggravating, re-sulting in frequent attacks of what was prononunced angina pectoris, a severe agonizing pain over the heart tending to the back and sometimes down the left arm. "In some of these attacks but for the timely administration of morphine injected hypodermically I could have survived but a short time.
"At different times I abandoned the use of coffee, believing it the cause of my troubles, and invariably improved, but as I had nothing satisfactory to take its place in the way of a beverage I returned to its use. 'The literature of Postum Cereal Cof-fee came to my notice and I resolved to never had an attack of my old heart trouble, am capable now at the age of and literary work as at any period of my life. I can endure physical exercise without weariness, but with zest and relish, and have gained in weight from 134 pounds to 165 pounds." The doctor further refers to the wide spread prevalence of heart trouble from the use of coffee and tobacco, and speaks of the advantage gained by patake Postum. It must be added: that the poison of tients when they leave off coffee and the coffee does not affect the heart in some patients, but shows its work in the stomach and bowels with one, perhaps in the eyes with another, and kidneys with another, and general neryous prostration with another. It is never possible to tell just where the result of the poisoned nerve centers will show forth. There is but one way to surely cure such cases and that is by insisting upon leaving off coffee and using Postum in its place. Postum contains the elements for rebuilding the nerve cells and brain. Albumen is furnished in a variety of foods, but albuphate of potash, whereas, it can be depended upon to take up the delicate particles of that element when pre-

Commercial Club Idea Is Taking Hold Among Business Men.

Canvassers For Memberships Meeting With Much Success.

Attendance at the Meeting Tomorrow Evening Is Urged.

A great deal of interest has been awakened by the cail for a meeting for omorrow evening at the city hall for the purpose of forming a Commercial club along the lines of similar organizations in St. Paul and Minneapolis. Two canvassers for memberships have been doing some work. One of them spent half an hour on lower Fifth avenue west yesterday, and as a result had forty-five memberships subscribed to. Many houses are taking a rected with them in prominent capacities. It is believed that there is no longer any doubt about the successful organization of the club. The subscription to membership is based on the stipulation that a total personnel of at least 300 shall be secured.

The committee that has in hand the reparation of constitution, etc., has supplemented its former call for to-morrow evening's meeting at the city hall with the following: "The committee engaged in securing information, arranging by-laws, etc., for the new Commercial club is anxious to have as many citizens as possible attend the meeting at the city hall on Friday evening. Every loyal citizen should be there and make every consistent effort to have the movement a success. The city needs such an institution as a commercial club very badly, and it is hoped that this effort may have the undivided support of all men in all lines of business or profes-

AMUSEMENTS. "YON YONSON."
"Yon Yonson" drew an immense audience at the Lyceum last evening. The play has been seen here time and again, but it seems to lose none of its power to draw a full house. The company playing it this season is a very good one. Knute Erickson, who plays Yon, compares favorably with any of the men who have essayed the role. His dialect is fine and he drops into the Swedish language itself at a rapid rate in the moments of excitement, a trick that is Annie Mack-Berlein is still playing the part of the Irish widow in search of rice Norman as Grace Jennings is

I continued its use in my family for the past year and a half or two years during which time I have not only selections on the bells, but numerous selections on banjos, mandonumerous had an attack of my old heart ber was warmly applauded and the members of the company responded generously with encores. The two selections on the bells that seemed to delight the large audience the most were "Echoes from the London Steeples" and "All Aboard for Memphis." In the former selection the bells of St. Paul began pealing in the distance and growing louder, then the 3. The hymn of "Rockingham" was chimed from a neighboring steeple, while the bells of Westminster began striking the quarter, half, three-quarter and hour chimes, followed by the striking of "Big Ben." In the distance the hymn "Wareham" pealed from a steeple, and the close came with the belis of St. Paul receding. For an encore the bell ringers gave a delightful medley including "Old Black Joe," "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground" and "Old Kentucky Home." In the selection "All Aboard for Memphis" the sounds heard about the wharf when a steamer is about to start, five trains for Chicago daily—one in the bells, escaping steam and whistles the morning, two in the afternoon and of the river boats, were intermingled with the music of a banjo orchestra, formers being reproduced in a realistic

It has cured in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred where it was given a fair and faithful trial. By that record you have only two chances in a hundred of failure and ninety-eight chances of being restored to perfect health. It is worth trying. Abram Freer, Esq., of Rockbridge, Greene Co., Ill., writes: "My wife had a severe attack of pleurisy and lung trouble; the doctors gave her up to die. She commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she began to improve from the first dose. Meeting to Plan Their Extermination---Are Increasing.

WOLVES.

The meeting that will be held at the this evening for the purpose of organizing for the extermination of wolves is interesting a number of people who are anxious for the agricultural development of the country around Duluth. They say that it wolves are allowed to overrun the country they will drive every farmer out of business, for they will kill his stock and make it an impossibility for him to continue to make a living out of the soil.

Wolves are multiplying in the county at an enormous rate, according to those who claim to have investigated the matter. They say that the natural increase is one-third every ear, and that if steps are not taken to exterminate the first that the matters are not taken to exterminate the first that the matters are not taken to exterminate the first that the matters of the company. The affair should be the country and it is doubtful if such are definitely formulated, it is understood that in view of the great demand there will be the coming, summer for this class of skilled workmen, the men wish to have as strong an organization as possible to protect their interests. There is said to be no complaint over the present wage scale, but the men wish to be in a position to protect themselves against any reduction, believing the coming year will bear them out. that if steps are not taken to extermin-into Duluth at this time of year is to escape the taxation in the country houses in North Dakota which applies on April 1.

It has been generally supposed that the country houses were full of wheat and that the spring movement to Duluth would be very large. A representative of one of the leading elevator firms said yesterday that this idea is erroneous; that it will be found that the movement to Duluth will not be as heavy as usual in years of average crops. It is not to be supposed from this that the wheat crop of the Northwest has been marketed by any means. The wheat instead of being in elevators is in the hands of the farmers. They have held their wheat this year and are still holding it for higher prices. Their large crops of ilax and the high prices which they have obtained have enabled them to retain their wheat. It is admitted that wheat has been selling at a pretty

A BAD COLLISION.

Trains Run Into Each Other

A serious wreck occurred yesterday at the crossing of the Omaha and Northern Pacific roads at old Superior, resulting in two engines being ditched and the tying up of traffic at that point for several hours.

A South Shore freight train puiled out of the East End station and after stopping 400 feet from the crossing started forward again. A heavily loaded Northern Pacific freight train, with a double-header was pulling up the grade toward South Superior and the engines crashed into each other at the crossing. The engines were running slowly at the time, but the shock rolled them into the ditch. The engine crews jumped when they came together and escaped without injury. The trains were not injured. The rails were torn up for a distance of fifty feet. Today the east bound Omaha trains ran over the Northern Pacific tracks to Itasca. THE EVENING HERALD

ST. LOUIS COUNTY'S DANGER.

The danger to Duluth and St. Louis county arising from the introduction in the senate of the proposed constitutional amendment, permitting the state to take all the taxes derived from the iron mines in this county, should not be underestimated. Prompt action by Duluth secured a reversal of opinion among the legislators at St. Paul respecting the vessel tonnage tax, and had a great influence in defeating the imperfect and unjust tax bill proposed by the commission. That influence should be again exerted to prevent the bud a movement that, if successful, would deprive the St. Louis county treasury of a revenue of $300,000 to $400,000 a year. The bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Sivright, but he says it is not his, but was introduced by request. The real authors of the north of Montana. There is full power now vested in the legislature by the constitution to impose a tonnage tax, if it should be deemed desirable to change the present system of taxing the mines. The following addition to article 9 of the constitution was made by a vote of the people in 1896:

The impossibility of fixing a uniform salary for carriers to meet existing local conditions is the one strong argument for the contract system, and if plans can be devised so as to secure good service by competent men and not let contractors get a hold on the routes, it would seem to be advisable, The influence of the department is against the measure, however, and the outcome is doubtful.

DINED WITH THE PRESS.

The brilliant banquet at NewYork last night given in honor of Prince Henry by the New Yorker Staats-Zeltung, the great German newspaper of the United States, was attended by 1000 representatives of the newspapers of this country. The description telegraphed of the affair shows that it was a noteworthy gathering in many respects. The prince was given an enthusiastic reception and made thoroughly acquainted with the friendly feeling of the press of America toward the German nation. His speech shows that he has a good knowledge of the widespread influence and power of the American press.

"It annoys me not to have a jewel or a stone," she replied. "I will look miserable. I would much prefer not to go."

Then, after a thoughtful pause, her husband said: "Go to your friend, Madame Forestier, and ask her to lend you some jewels. You are well enough acquainted with her to do this."

She uttered a cry of joy. Next day Madame Loisel called on Madame Forestier. Her friend stepped to the glass wardrobe, took out a large box, opened it, and disclosed, in a white satin case, a superb diamond necklace. The desire for it made Madame Loisel's heart beat fast. With trembling hands she put it around so familiarly by this common woman stammered: "But-madame-I do no

Portland Oregonian: With the butchers in "merger" and grocers at war with the source of supplies, threatening boycott, retaliation and all sorts of commercott, retaliation and all sorts of commercial revenge, the trembling consumer may well be thankful for the forty days' respite from feasting afforded by Lent. At the end of that period let us hope that the conservators and disbursers of our food supplies will have reached a basis of settlement that will allow people of ordinary means to eat at least frugally and have something left with which to pay taxes, not to mention street improvements and necessary spring clothing.

Force Promotes Peace. Philadelphia Ledger: It appears to be certain, that if we intend to keep the Philippines, we must keep them by force, and maintain a strong government there for many years to come. The character of the work makes it indispensable that a large fleet of the smaller naval vessels shall be maintained, and this makes the proposed navy yard on a large scale a necessity. The present policy of bringing the vessels home for repairs is at once too coatly and too inconvenient.

A ROLL OF HEROES.

Chicago Inter Ocean: Every American's heart, as he reads of the deeds for which medals of honor have just been awarded must thrill with joy and pride that his country can produce such examples of courage, self-sacrifice, endurance and de-

It will be observed that in no case is the medal of honor awarded for mere reckless or foolhardy bravery. Mere daredeviltry that achieves no benefit cannot win it.

Like the English Victoria cross and the Like the English Victoria cross and the German iron cross, its only rivals as military distinctions, the American medal of Itary distinctions, the American medal of honor has no intrinsic value. No amount of "influence" can secure it. There are generals who would willingly give their stars to obtain it. To be able to wear it proves the possession of the highest and most efficient disciplined courage and devotion—the best qualities of a man. It is hard to conceive what more honorable legacy any man could leave his children than this bit of bronse.

Prince Henry Eats and Makes Merry In New York.

Dines With the Newspaper Men of the United States.

Entertained By the "Captains of Industry" at Sherry's.

New York, Feb. 27 .- Prince Henry of Prussia dined last night with 1000 men who make American newspapers. He was the special guest of Herman Ridder, proprietor of the New York Staats Zeltung, who gathered at his table a majority of the leading figures in American journalism. They came from the four quarters of the country and made the most noteworthy gathering of their profession ever assembled in the United States. There was a felicitous exchange of greetings between Prince Henry and the men who spoke for the journalistic protession, and the affair claims rank as one of the most notable incidents of the American tour of the German

Mr. Rider called upon Bishop Potter, who offered a brief grace. A small army of waiters quickly filled the aisles between tables and with an order that was remarkable in such a large gathering. As the evening proceeded hundreds to two scenes.

who did not hesitate to do what he could in its behalf. He even made some rulings that are criticised by the opponents of the bill, and several times, they complain, he had trouble with his vision when the opponents wanted to be heard. Their strongest objection is to his holding yesterday when the vote on the reconsideration was held. Mr. Laybourn asked him if he would hold that a majority of the house was necessary, or only a majority of those present. He said a majority of those present was enough for him, and this was a surprise to many, who had ideas the other way. However, not all of the opponents of the bill feel very strongly on this. They say that Mr. Dowling did nothing that as an advocate of the bill he had no right to do, and they see nothing czar-like or oppressive in his conduct in the chair during the fight on the bill. Mr. Dowling was one of the warmest "friends of the bill," and he did good work for it not only in the chair but outside of it.

The most interesting thing on the boards now, so far as St. Louis county is concerned, is Jacobson's bill for a tonnage tax on iron mines. He claims to have offered this in good faith to get the aid of the St. Louis county delegation in putting through some tax reform measures, and he proudly jumps upon the accusation that he was for giving the iron mine tax to the state when he proposes, in his tax bill, to divide it just as any other tax is di-vided now. The St. Louis county dele-gation has not found its bearings on this proposition as yet. It is a little sudden, especially as they had been looking for something entirely different. It is a large matter, and requires some study, and in the meantime the members from St. Louis are not talk-ing much about it. The questions before the delegation are not easy. Would a tonnage tax of this nature be pleasing to their constituents? Even if it would not be pleasing, would it not be better to let it go through rather than wait for another measure that would impose a stiffer tax and take it away from St. Louis county? The question of getting at it is still an open one. There is no question, of course, that the mines of St. Louis county are not being taxed half enough. Probbaly sentiment in Duluth, at any rate, would be favorable to the measure so long as it is not proposed to steal the taxes away and give them to the state. At an average tax rate of 25 mills a valuation of $22,000,000 would give about the same tax that a 5-cent tonnage tax would. The mines are now assessed at about $12,000,000, and it has long been agreed that in St. Louis county that that valuation is only a shadow of what the taxable valuation of the mines should be if an ad valorem tax is to be continued. On that basis the 5-cent tonnage tax seems a little mild, Cloquet, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The would still be taxed as real estate, and that such tax shall be in lieu of all other taxes upon such express contracts and the income thereof.

Mr. Alford, of Duluth, has introduced a bill designed to save money for St. Louis county by cutting off some of the fees and mileage now paid for bringing prisoners to Duluth that have been sent up in range towns under the state law. prisoners to Duluth that have been sent up in range towns under the state law. The custom is to commit prisoners under state law so they can be sent to Duluth. If they were committed under the local laws the village or city would have to care for them and the officers would get no mileage. The bill introduced yesterday provides that in any county having more than 6600 square miles no officer day provides that in any county having more than 6600 square miles no officer who is drawing a salary shall get anything for serving papers or conveying prisoiers except his actual and necessary expenses paid out in money, where the officer has to go beyond the limits of his city or village he gets 5 cents a mile up to twenty miles, but nothing thereafter and nothing for traveling within the corporate limits of his municipality.

It seems to be generally believed that a bill making the members of the board of railroad and warehouse commissioners appointive instead of elective will be passed this session. Carl Wallace, of Minneapolis, introduced a bill providing for this in the house yesterday, and got forty-one votes for passing it under a suspension of the rules. It does not come within the rule adopted by the house to the reception of bills, but it will probably be received, nevertheless. STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

An orchestra high up in the second tier of boxes played popular national music and when a tune caught the fancy of the crowd they rank it. At "Die Wacht Am Rhein." the crowd arose and after singing it lustily, there were loud cheers. "America" got the same enthusiastic treatment. Excellently moulded statuettes of Prince Henry were distributed as souvenirs.

At 10:45 o'clock Mr. Ridder, rapping for attention, proposed the health of the president of the United States and the Kaiser Wilhelm, and called upon Whitelaw Reid to respond.

Mr. Ridder said: "Your royal highness and gentlemen, I have the pleasure and the honor of offering the health of the president of the United States and the German emperor, which I ask you to rise and drink and I couple with this sentiment the name of the honorable Whitelaw Reid, the distinguished editor of the New York Tribune."

Prince Henry was then introduced. As he stood up, the crowd burst into "Hochsoler Leben Mal Hoch." After that they sang: "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Before beginning his set speech, the prince said: "This is the largest interview I ever had."

Prince Henry's answer follows: "Mr. Toastmaster and Gentlemen: I was fully aware of the fact that I am the guest and in the pressence of the representatives of the Press of the United States and in particular the guest of the New York Staats Zeitung, both of which I wish to thank for the boxes above the dining hall. But in 1860 the nation was going down into the valley of decision. The question which had been debated on thousands of platforms, which had been discussed in countless publications, which, thundered from innumerable pulpits. had caused in their congregations the bitter strife and dissension to which only vases of conscience can give rise, was everywhere pressing for solution. And not merely in the various channels of publicity was it alive and clamorous. About every fireside in the land, in the conversation of friends and neighbors, and, deeper still, in the secret of millions of human hearts, the battle of opinion was waging; and all men felt and saw-with more or less clearnessthat an answer to the importunate question, Shall the nation live? was due and not to be denied. The men who are living today and who were young in 1860 will never forget the glory and glamour that filled the earth and the sky when the long twilight of doubt and uncertainty was ended and the time o faction had come.

A speech by Abraham Lincoln was an event not only of high moral significance, but of far-reaching importance; the drilling of a militia company by Ellsworth attracted national attention; the fluttering of the flug in the clear sky drew tears from the eyes of young men. Patriotism, which had been a rhetorical expression, became a passionwas worth saving; it could be saved only by fire; no sacrifice was too great; the young men of the country were ready for the sacrifice; come weal, come woe, they were ready. At 17 years of age William McKinley heard this summons of his country. He was the sort of youth to whom a military life in ordinary times would possess no attractions. His nature was far different from that of the ordinary soldier. He had other dreams of life, its prizes and pleasures, than that of marches and battles. But to his mind there was no choice or question. The banner floating in the morning breeze was the beckoning gesture of his country. The thrilling notes of the trumpet cailed him-him and none other-into the ranks. His portrait in his first unistocky figure: the quiet, thoughtful face; the deep, dark eyes. He was so faithful in little things, they gave him more and more to do. He was untiring in camp and on the march; swift, cool and fearless in fight. He left the army with field rank when the war ended,

In coming years, when men seek to draw the moral of our great civil war, nothing will seem to them so admirable in all the history of our two magnificent armies as the way in which the war came to a close. When the Confederate army saw the time had come, they acknowledged the pitiless logic of facts, and ceased fighting. When the army of the Union saw it was no longer needed, without a murand not less for the kind forbearance | mur or question, making no terms, asking no return, in the flush of victory and fullness of might, it laid down its ture. arms and melted back into the mass of peaceful citizens. There is no event, since the nation was born, which has so proved its solid capacity for selfgovernment. Both sections share equally in that crown of glory. They had held a debate of incomparable importance and had fought it out with equal energy. A conclusion had been reached-and it is to the everlasting honor of both sides that they each knew when the war was over, and the hour of a lasting peace had struck. We may admire the desperate daring of others who prefer annihilation to comand, I will say, of enlightened patriotism, belongs to the men like Grant and

He had an extraordinary power of marshaling and presenting significant facts, so as to bring conviction to the average mind. His range of reading was not wide; he read only what he might some day find useful, and what he read his memory held like brass.

Those who knew him well in those early days can never forget the consummate skill and power with which he would select a few pointed facts, and, blow upon blow, would hammer them into the attention of great assemblages in Ohio, as Jael drove the nail into the head of the Canaanite captain.

He was not often impassioned; he

So it came naturally about that in election to congress, his political career. Thereafter for fourteen years this chamber was his home. I use the word advisedly. Nowhere in the world was he so in harmony with his environment as here; nowhere else did his mind work with such full consciousness of its powers. The air of debate was native to him; here he drank delight of battie with his peers. In after days, when he drove by this stately pile, or when on rare occasions his duty called him here, he greeted his old haunts with the affectionate zest of a child of the house; during all the last ten years of his life, filled as they were with activity and glory, he never ceased to be homesick for this hali. When he came to the Presidency, there was not a day when his congressional service was not of use to him. Probably no other president has been in such full and cordial communion with congress, if we may except Lincoln alone. McKinley knew legislative body thoroughly, its composition, its methods, its habits of thought. He had the profoundest respect for its authority and an inflexible belief in the ultimate rectitude of its purposes. Our history shows how surely an executive courts disaster to the legislature; and, on the other hand, McKinley's frank and sincere trust and confidence in congress were repaid by prompt and loyal support and co-operation. During his entire term of office this mutual trust and regard-so essential to the public welfare-was never shadowed by a single cloud. He was a Republican. He could not be anything else. A Union soldier, grafted upon a Clay Whig, he necessarily believed in the "American system"-in protection to home industries; in a strong, aggressive nationality; in a liberal construction of the constitution. What any self-reliant nation might he deplored its necessity; he strained do, he felt this nation had power to do. if required by the common welfare and his friends, in order, first, to prevent not prohibited by our written charter. He was of the stuff of which took high rank in the house from the beginning. His readiness in debate, his in the mature statesman to push formastery of every subject he handled, ward the war to a decisive close. War the bright and amiable light he shed about him, and above all the unfailing short and conclusive. His merciful treated friend and foe alike-one of the surest signatures of a nature born to great destinies-made his service in the house a pathway of unbroken success and brought him at last to the allimportant post of chairman of ways and means and leader of the majority. Of the famous revenue act which, in that capacity he framed and carried through congress, it is not my purpose here and now to speak. The members of the controversy in the midst of which that law had its troubled being are yet too warm to be handled on a day like this. I may only say that it was never sufficiently tested to prove the praises of its friends or the criticism of its opponents. After a brief existence it passed away, for a time, in the storm that swept the Republicans out of power. McKinley also passed through a brief zone of shadow; his congressional district having been rearranged

The people whose malevolent skill had turned Mc-Kinley out of congress deserved well of him and of the republic. Never was Nemesis more swift and energetic. The Republican of Ohlo were saved the trouble of choosing a governor-the other side had chosen one for them. A year after McKinley left congress he was made governor of Ohio, and two years later he was re-elected, each time by majorities unhoped-for and overwhelming. He came to fill a space in the public eye which obscured a great portion of the field of vision.

In two national conventions the presidency seemed within his reach. But he had gone there in the interest of others and his honor forbade any dalliance with temptation. So his nay was nay-delivered with a tone and gesture there was no denying. His hour was not yet come.

If to the spirits of the just made perfect is permitted the consciousness of earthly things, we may be sure that his faithful soul is courtesy, that he never embarrassed his friends, and never offended his opponents. For several months before the Republican national convention met in 1896, it was evident to all who had eyes to see that Mr. McKinley was the only probable candidate of his party. Other names were mentioned, of the highest rank in ability, character and popularity; they were supported by powerful combinations; but the nomination of McKinley as against the field

To this wager of battle the discussions of the previous four years distinctly pointed. But no sooner had the two parties made their nominations than it became evident that the opposing candidates declined to accept the field of discussion chosen by the Republicans, and proposed to put forward as the main issue the free coinage of silver. McKinley at once accepted this challenge, and, taking the battle for protection as already won, went with energy into the discussion of the theories presented by his opponents. He and wisely concluded not to leave his home during the canvass, thus avoiding a proceeding which has always been of sinister augury in our politics: hut from the front porch of his modest home in Canton he daily addressed the delegations which came from every part of the country to greet him in a series of speeches so strong, so varied, so pertinent, so full of facts briefly set forth, of theories embodied in a single phrase, that they formed the hourly text for the other speakers of his party, and give probably the most convincing proof we have of his surprising fertility of resource and flexibility of mind. There had been state of profound commercial and industrial depression, from which his In the last fiscal year our excess of exfriends had said his election would relieve the country. Our relations with the outside world left much to be desired. The feeling between the Northern and Southern sections of the Union was lacking in the cordiality which was necessary to the welfare of both. Hawaii had asked for annexation and had been rejected by the preceding administration. There was a state of things in the Caribbean which could not permanently endure. Our neighbor's house was on fire, and there were grave doubts as to our rights and duties in the premises. A man either weak or rash, either irresolute or headstrong, might have brought ruin on himself and incalculable harm to the country. immortal honor. The least desirable form of glory to a man of his habitual mood and temper-that of successful war-was nevertheless conferred upon him by uncontrollable events. He felt it must come; almost to breaking his relations with and then to postpone it to the latest gence in military matters which showed how much of the soldier still survived dinates, and the war, so long dreaded, whose consequences were so momentous, ended in a hundred days. Mr. Stedman, the dean of our poets, has called him "Augmenter of the State." It is a proud title; if justly conferred, its ranks him among the few whose names may be placed definitely and forever in charge of the historic Muse. Under his rule, Hawaii has come to us, and Tutuila; Porto Rico and the vast archipelago of the East. Cuba is free. Our position in the Caribbean is assured beyond the possibility of future question. The doctrine called by the name of Monroe, so long derided and denied by alien publicists, evokes now no challenge or contradiction when uttered to the world. It has become an international truism. Our sister republics to the south of us are convinced that we desire only their peace and prosperity. Europe knows that we cherish no dreams but those of world-wide commerce, the benefit of which shall be to all nations. The state is augmented, but it threatens no nation under heaven. As to those regions which have come under the shadow of our flag, the possibility of their being damaged by such a change of circumstances was, in the view of McKinley, a thing unthinkable. To believe that we could not administer them to their advantage, was to turn infidel to our American faith of more than a hundred

In dealing with foreign powers he will take rank with the greatest of our diplomatists. It was a world of which he had little special knowledge before coming to the presidency. But his marvelous adaptability was in nothing more remarkable than in the firm grasp he immediately displayed in interna-tional relations. In preparing for war and in the restoration of peace he was alike adroit, courteous and far-sighted. When a sudden emergency declared itself, as in China, in a state of things of which our history furnished no precedent and international law no safe and certain precept, he hesitated not a moment to take the course marked out for him by considerations of humanity and the national interests. Even while the legations were fighting for their lives against bands of infuriated fanatics, he decided that we were at peace with China; and while that conclusion did not hinder him from taking the most energetic measures to rescue our imperiled citizens, it enabled him to maintain close and friendly relations with the wise and heroic viceroys of the South, whose resolute stand saved that ancient empire from anarchy and spoliation. He disposed of every question as it rose with a promptness and clarity of vision that astonished his advisers, and he never had occasion to review a judgment or reverse a deci-............

By patience, by firmness, by sheer reasonableness, he imour understanding proved with all the great powers of the world, and rightly gained the blessing which belongs to the peacemakers.

But the achievements of the nation in war and diplomacy are thrown in the shade by the vast economical developments which took place during Mr. Mc-Kinley's administration. Up to the time of his first election, the country was suffering from a long period of de-pression, the reasons of which I will not try to seek. But from the moment the ballots were counted that be tokened his advent to power a great and momentous movement in advance declared itself along all the lines of industry and commerce. In the very month of his inauguration steel rails began to be sold at $18 a ton-one of the most significant facts of modern times. It meant that American industries had adjusted themselves to the long depression—that through the power of the race to organize and combine, stimulated by the conditions then prevailing, and perhaps by the Prospect of legislation favorable to industry. America had begun to undersell the rest of the world. The movement went on without ceasing. The president and his party kept the pledges of their platform and their canvass. The Dingley bill was speedily framed and set in operation. All industries responded to the new stimulus, and American trade set out on its new crusade, not to conquer the world, but to trade with it on terms advantageous to all concerned. I will not weary you with statistics; but one or two words seem necessary to show how the acts of McKinley as president kept pace with his professions as candidate. His four years of administration were humor; yet I never saw his equal in controlling and convincing a popular controlling and convincing a popular in this was done without anxiety or strain. I remember a day I spent with him durithough brief, was expensive. Although ing that husy support the had made

In the last four years it was $2,354,442,213. These figures are so stupendous that they mean little to a careless readerbut consider! The excess of exports over imports for the whole preceding period from 1790 to 1897-from Washington to McKinley-was only $556,808,-

The most extravagant promises made by the sanguine McKinley advocates five years ago are left out of sight by these sober facts. The "debtor nation" has become the chief creditor nation. The financial center of the world, which required thousands of years to journey from the Euphrates to the Thames and Seine, seems passing to the Hudson between daybreak and

I will not waste your time by explaining that I do not invoke for any man the credit of this vast result. The captain cannot claim that it is he who drives the mighty steamship over the tumbling billows of the trackless deep; but praise is justly due him if he has made the best of her tremendous powers, if he has read aright the currents of the sea and the lessons of the stars.

* And we should be ungrateful if in this hour of prodigious prosperity we should fail to remember that William Mc-Kinley with sublime faith foresaw it, with indomitable courage labored for it, put his whole heart and mind into the work of bringing it about; that it was his voice which, in dark hours, rang out, her-alding the coming light, as over the twilight waters of the Nile the mystic cry of Memnon announced the dawn to Egypt waking from sleep. Among the most agreeable incidents of the president's term of office were the two journeys he made to the South. The moral reunion of the sections—so long and so ardently desired by him—had been initiated by the Spanish war, when the veterans of both sides, and their sons, had marched shoulder to shoulder together under the same banner. The president in these journeys sought, with more than usual eloquence and pathos, to create a sentiment which should end forever the ancient feud. He was too good a politician to expect any results in the way of votes in his favor, and he accomplished none. But for all that the good seed did not fall on barren ground. In the warm and chivalrous hearts of that generous people, the echo of his cordial and protherly words will linger long, and his name will be cherished in many a

There had been little doubt of the result among well-informed people; but when it was known, a profound feeling of relief and renewal of truts were evident among the leaders of capital and of industry. not only in this country, but every-where. They felt that the immediate future was secure, and that trade and commerce might safely push forward in every field of effort and enterprise. He inspired universal confidence, which is the lifeblood of the commercial system of the world. It began frequently to be said that such a state of things ought to continue; one after another, men of prominence said that the president was his own best successor. He paid little attention to these suggestions until they were repeated by some of his nearest friends. Then he saw that one of the most cherished traditions of our public life was in danger.
The generation which has seen the prophecy of the papal throne—Non videbis annos Petri—twice contradicted by the longevity of holy men was in peril of forgetting the unwritten law of our republic: Thou shalt not exceed the years of Washington. The president saw it was time to speak, and in his characteristic manner he spoke, briefly, but enough. Where the lightning strikes there is no need of iteration. From that hour no one dreamed of doubting his purpose of retiring at the end of his second term, and it will long before another such lesson is

He felt that the harvest time was come to garner in the fruit of so much planting and culture, and he was determined that nothing he might do or say should be liable to the reproach of a personal interest. Let us say frankly he was a party man; he believed the policies advocated by him plish substantial results in the development and affirmation of those policies I spent a day with him shortly before he started on his fateful journey to Buffalo. Never had I seen him higher in hope and patriotic confidence. He was as sure of the future of his country as the Psalmist who cried: "Glorious things are spoken of thee, thou city of God." He was gratified to the isthmus. In fancy he saw the canal world passing through it in peace and amity. He saw in the immense evolution of American trade the fulfillment of all his dreams, the reward of all his labors. He was-I need not say-an ardent protectionist, never more sincere and devoted than during those last days of his life.

............ He regarded reciprocity as the bulwark of protection—not a breach, but a fulfillment of the law. The treaties which is for four years had been preparing under his personal supervision he regarded as ancillary to the general scheme,

Through all his pride of country and his joy of its success runs the note of solemn warning, as in Kipling's noble hymn, "Lest We Forget." "Our capacity to produce has developed so enormously and our products have so multiplied that the problem of more markets requires our urgent and mmediate attention. I wish I had time to read the whole of this wise and weighty speech; nothing I may sav could give such a picture of the president's mind and character. His years of apprenticeship had been served. He stood that day past master of the art of statesmanship He had nothing more to ask of the people. He owed them nothing but truth and faithful service. His mind and heart were purged of the temptations which beset all men engaged in the struggle to survive. In view of the revelation of his nature vouchsafed to us that day, and the fate which impended over him, we can only say in deep affection and solemn awe, "Blessed

The next day sped the bolt of doom, and for a week after—in an agony of dread broken by illusive glimpses of hope that our prayers might be answered—the nation waited for the end. Nothing in the glorious life that we saw gradually waning was more admirable and exemplary than its close. The gentle humanity of his words, when he saw his assailant in danger of summary ven-geance, "Don't let them hurt him;" his chivalrous care that the news should be broken gently to his wife; the fine courtesy with which he apologized for the damage which his death would bring to the great exhibition; and the heroic resignation of his final words, "It is God's way; His will, not ours, be done," were all the instinctive expressions of a nature so lofty and so pure that pride in its nobility at once softened and enhanced the nation's sense of loss. Every young and growing people has to meet, at moments, the problems of its destiny. Whether the question comes, as in Egypt, from a sphinx, symbol of the hostile forces of omnipotent nature, who punishes with instant death our failure to understand her meaning; or whether it comes, as in Jerusalem, from the Lord of Hosts who commands the building of His temple, it comes always with the warning that the past is past, and ex-verience vain. "Your fathers, where are they? and the prophets, do they live forever?" The fathers are dead; the prophets are silent; the questions are new, and have no answer but

When the horny outside case which protects the infancy of a chrysalis nation suddenly bursts, and, in a single abrupt shock, it finds itself floating on wings which had not existed before, whose strength it has never tested, among dangers it can not foresee and is without experience to measure, every motion is a problem, and every hesitation may be an error. The past gives no clue to the future. The fathers, where are they? and the prophets, do they live forever? We are ourselves the fathers! We are ourselves the prophets! The questions that are put to us we must answer without delay, without help-for the sphinx allows no

The moral value to a nation of a renown such as Washington's and Lincoln's and McKinley's is beyond all computation. No loftier ideal can be held up to the emulation of ingenious youth. With such examples we can not be wholly ignoble. Grateful as we may be for what they did, let us be still more grateful for what they were. While our daily being, our public policies, still feel the influence of their work, let us pray that in our spirits their lives may be voluble, calling us upward and on-

Princess of Wales Had Narrow Escape From

Injury. New York, Feb. 27 .- The princess of Wales has had a narrow escape at the Shire horse show, says a Herald dispatch from London. The winning stallion, Hoxton Tom, was being led down the ring as the royal party was leaving the enclosure.

The cheering scared the animal, which got almost beyond control. The groom made a dash for the exit, through which the prince and princess, with other members of the royal party, were just about to pass. They appeared totally unaware of the danger until the shouts of warning from all parts of the building attracted their attention. Then the princess, who was nearest to the animal, realized her danger, and stopped short. The stallion rushed by her royal highness, missing her by a narrow margin. It was only by the skill of the groom, who managed to pull the animal to one side as it dashed past the royal party that a very serious and deplorable accident was averted. the enclosure.

The young man's mother has just dled in Morrow county, Ohio, and on her deathbed she told her son the story of his father's tragic end, and his visit here was to learn the particulars, his mother having told him that his father Schell visited the jall and the scene of the lynching, which is the corner of the court house, and offered up a prayer for his father as he stood at the cell from which he was taken. Schell asked the sheriff a long list of questions about the arrest of his father. He seemed deeply impressed as he looked over the scene of that black chapter in Logan county his In September, 1875, James Schell and his family, who lived on the farm of Josiah Laughlin, near Belle Center, went to the Lewiston Reservoir, accompanied by Alice Laughlin, the 16-year-old daughter of Joslah Laughlin, to fish and pick berries. Mrs. Schell returned home late in the afternoon and reported Alice Laughlin lost. Her father and others at once started out to ilnd her. The next day searchers discovered the girl's dead body in a swamp. Her skull was crushed and her Schell was suspected and at once jailed in Bellefontaine. His wife the next day told the story of the murder in detail as committed by her hus-That was on Friday, the 24th of September. In the evening the streets of twin-serew steamer Neckar, of the came here Monday and learned the North-German Lloyds line, with her particulars of the lynching of his propeller disabled, was convoyed into father, James Schell, which occurred Halifax harbor last evening by the steamer Karlsruhe, of the same line, and the British steamer Matin Head, of the Head line. The Neckar and the Karlsruhe are both from Bremerhaven for New York with a combined passenger list of 2500 people.

The Matin Head and the Karlsruhe fell in with the Neckar on the same day that the accident happened, and both stood by the disabled vessel.

The officers and crew had a thrilling experience for the nine days that they battled with the elements. For the first four days not a man of the whole crew got more than half an hour's sleep, and from the time of the accident the captain slept but twelve hours. The first and second officers of the Karlsruhe and the boatswain received serious injuries. The passengers on the disabled steamer are well and none the worse for their exciting experience.

The story of the bringing into port of the steamer Neckar was told last night by Chief Officer A. Wiltemson. The steamer started her second voyage on Feb. 8, from Bremerhaven for New York, with 1169 passengers and a crew of 146. The weather was bad until the 16th, when the sea became very heavy and the steamer was hove to. The next morning, in lat. 42.22 N., long, 46.49 W., the port propeller became disabled, and a little later the steam steering gear gave out. While the Neckar's officers were struggling to keep the steamer on her course, the Karlsruhe was sighted and signals for assistance made. The Matin Head had also been sighted, and offered assistance and agreed to stand by. The announcement followed a heated discussion on "The Study of the Bible."
Rev. E. M. Laird of the East Side Presbyterian church, said that he would be deeply disgusted with the Bible if he were forced to accept the various fanciful translations and interpretations placed upon its texts by ministers whose sense of the fitting and proper led them to statements which were absurd.
Rev. John R. Shannon, of St. Paul's M. E. church, opposed the notion of ciergymen being grounded in Greek and Hebrew in order to understand the Bible. He didn't believe in a knowledge of the Bible gained from Greek and Hebrew roots.
Rev. W. H. Hormel declared he had no up-to-date Bible into the hands of the

CARD PLAYERS Are Declared Unfit to Teach

Sunday School. Xenia, Ohio, Feb. 27 .- The Ministers' association of Xenia has decided that all Sunday school teachers who play cards are not fit to instruct the youth of the schools, and an effort will be made to change the classes to meet the new rechange the classes to meet the new requirements.

The new order of affairs is going to work havoe in the organization of the Sunday schools of the city, for many of the teachers not only play cards when they want to, but they dance also, and dancing has also come under the ban of the preachers. It is thought that the action is the result of the recent meetings of Evangelist Stuart here a short time ago, as he scored unmercifully all church members who indulge in the questionable bers who indulge in the questionable All of the ministers agreed to the action with one exception, the rector of the Epis-copal church, who said that if he would endeavor to do anything of the sort he would be without teachers for his Sunday school, for the reason that practically all of his members see nothing wrong in a social game of cards. Resumption of Sale of Home-

LOSES THE ADVANCE

The Wheat Market Sells Up But Fails to Hold.

Steady Cables, Heavy Receipts and Bearish Crop Reports.

flax Trading Was Active and the Market Weak.

Dulath Board of Trade, Feb. 27.-The wheat market started at a decline, ruled lower during the early part of the morning after which it made a sharp advance. The cause of the opening weakness was steady cables, heavy Northwest receipts and bearish reports concerning the condition of the crops. The crop damage reports were coming in again today but they did not create the flurry that they did yesterday, Toward the flurry that they did yesterday. Toward the close there was heavy selling and the market lost all of its advance.

Primary receipts of wheat were 656,000 bus, last year 44,000 bus. Shipments 168,000 bus, last year 236,000 bus. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 123,000 bus. Corn was strong, the Chicago market advancing $40. There was no change in the price of oats. Primary receipts of corn were 315,000 bus, last year 730,000 bus. generally followed the course of wheat. The close was steady. Country offerings were very light, but cash demand was rather quiet. There was no special feature to the market. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 80 cars.

Provisions opened weak on sharp decline in hogs, but the market was given instant support reacting sharply, but closing easy with small gain for the day. It was surprising that the market did no better with the buying and the strength in the grain markets. Best men in the trade bought for natural reaction. There was heavy line bought for prominent short, and packers did what they could to help advance prices, but the outside ho'der sells through liquidation and we consider traders' efforts to built prices are without success. Packers are offering cash product at a liberal concession to relieve the crowded storage capacity, but the consumer wants nothing except to provide for needs thirty days hence. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 32,000 hogs.

Laidley & Co.—The shipment of $1,450,000 tomorrow by the City bank is regarded as the beginning of a large gold export movement and also of a large gold export movement and also as foreshadowing stiffer rates for money. This, however, as denoted by the views expressed last night by astute observers, does not impair confidence in the market does not impair confidence in the market outlook and the conservative tendency is to buy good stocks on the week days for turns. The argument that speculation is narrow and professional is questioned by no one. There is less public commission business than for weeks. Probably nine-tenths of each day's transactions originate with pools and manipulators working for themselves or for the big banking interests with which they are allied. But if the public does not buy stocks it does not sell them. Nor is it likely to if the flarger houses take the correct views, barring actual disaster. This is to the advantage of the cliques at work in specialties. Again, generally speaking, stocks are tied up in railroad treasuries, a fact which also facilitates bull manipulation. The suit of the government to test the legality of the Northern Securities company while a wet blanket on the standard pany while a wet blanket on the standard stocks is losing weight as a factor of depression and as much importance is attached to that consideration as to the fact that bad weather will shortly be responsible for some poor railroad statements. The last is true, both on grain and coal carriers. Yet there is talk that the Reading after resting a while will come Reading after resting awhile will come to the front again with the common as a feature. Much of the selling of this stock is due to the fear of labor trodies. students.

to attack as spring approached and earnings decreased. This is why the weakness was caused and had little effect.

Liquidation is also reported in People's Gas but for what cause is unknown. Rumors say that those causes relate to impending adverse legislation, reduced prices for gas and increased taxation. It is estimated that the banks will lose in cash this week through gold exports, treasury collections and the interior movements over $4,000,000 and this together with rungers of a fourther increase in er with rumors of a further increase in loans, lends much interest to the forth-coming bank statement. Grier to B. E. Baker.—Market probably irregular. Up-town traders builtsh tips out on nearly every cheap stock in the market from Leather up to the various rails which have never earned operating expenses.

Ridgley to W. H. Laidley & Co.—Technical conditions are more favorable to a bull campaign now than they have been since last July. The remoteness of a final settlement in the Northern Securities case makes it extremely probable that this will gradually disappear as a market factor. We may send out some gold but New York banks are in a position to regulate this and any exports will be small. I am in favor of buying the general list on all weak spots and do not think we will get much more reaction than what came today. I hear there is going to be a good movement in Louisville & Nashville.

Thus shrieked, in broken English, a little woman in the criminal court, as Sheriff Barry led Griffin Mayo to his chair. The woman was Mrs. Emil Goodman, widow of the Woodland-avenue tailor, for the murder of whom Mayo is being tried.

The scene was the most dramatic ever enacted in the dingy old court room-the scene of many a drama which bordered upon the tragic. The woman and her three children arrived early, and were given seats inside the cage. Mayo's mother and sisters came in after Mrs. Goodman. They glanced curiously at the stout little woman with her children clutching at her skirts and climbing over her, in restless, childish fashion; drew their chairs as far away as possible, and sat constant at the stockholders, unless otherwise presched by the by-laws: A president, a vice president, a secretary, assistant secretary, and a treasurer. When she saw the colored woman, Mrs. Goodman began to cry softly to herself. The children noticed her crying, and, being too young to realize anything save that their mother was in tears, began to cry, too. Bailiff Witt suggested that Mrs. Goodman retire, but with an effort she controlled her-self, and a kindly-disposed woman, waiting to testify before the grand jury, quieted the little ones. But it was only a lull. The court room was packed with the usual loafers and hangers-on, and as the sheriff and his little yellow prisoner appeared in the doorway, the whisper, "There he comes," caused Mrs. Goodman to look around. The crowd at the cage door parted and the prisoner was close enough to touch her before the widow saw him. Then came the dramatic denouement. Mrs. Goodman sprang up, Balliffs were rushing in her direction. The children, now thoroughly terrified, were adding their shrieks to their mother's heart-rending cries. The morbid gang of spectators crowded around the cage until it seemed as if it would give way, but the woman only continued her lamentations. tations.

AGED MAN

Adopts His Housekeeper as His Daughter.

New York, Feb. 27.—A case which some lawyers say is without parallel in the legal history of the New York courts, was made known when Justice McLean of the sound for the court officials would not risk another scene. Mayo grimned in a rather sickly manner, when he first saw the widow and and with his relatives remained stolidly indifferent to the scene being enacted a few feet behind them.

Amusing Instances of Persons Who Kick on High Taxes.

ich today, thank you. Less than a en checks received by Treasurer Whipple in this morning's mail footed up about $45,000. The day's receipts on tax collections may foot up $60,000. This was the last day for paying personal property taxes without incurring 10 per cent penalty for delay. The morning mail received in the treasurer's office was especially heavy. Mr. Whipple was busy all the forenoon opening the remittance letters and noting the checks. Between 200 und 250 checks were received in this one mail alone. Heavy receipts are expected in the mail brought in the afternoon delivery. One of the checks was for $8000 for the personal taxes of the Chandler Mining company.

Yesterday's receipts were about double those of the day before. They ooted up over $19,000. The stormy weather interfered with Deputy Williamson's business over the counter, but still the rush to save the 10 per cent penalty was of good proportions during the morning. People who did not like to make the trip up the hill to the court house kept the telephones busy in the treasurer's office. They wanted to know if they could pay by check, and of course were told that they could. Others wanted to know if they could not wait for better weather. They were informed that they could, just as well as not, provided they were willing to pay 10 per cent for the pri-vilege of being fair weather birds. One lady whose taxes were something over $4 set up a protest at the counter his morning. She said she was overaxed and wanted to know if there was not some relief. She was enlightened as to the red tape methods to get such relief, and concluded to pay up.

John Craig, who resided at Fifty-eighth avenue west and Raleigh street, was crushed to death at the Hubbard & Vincent mill yesterday afternoon. He was unloading a car of logs, and one of the chains becoming entangled, Mr. Craig started to free it. A log started from the top and struck him before he had time to get out of the way. The heavy log rolled over his body, crushing in the hips. He lived but a few minutes after the accident. The body was removed to the under-Chicago, Feb. 28.-Officers of the Illi- taking rooms of W. C. Gray, where the coroner viewed them this morning. Dr. Boyer says that the death was purely accidental and no inquest will be necessary. Mr. Craig was 48 years of age, and leaves a wife and five children. He was a member of both the Forester and the Maccabee lodges and carried in-surance in each. The organizations will is due to luck and the prompt action of the Borgstrom brothers, who occupy a portion of the first floor with their boot and shoe business. Last evening the firm expected to close the store early, and the members stopped a few moments for Mr. Hendricks, whose dry goods stock occupied the other portion of the lower floor. Going back to his desk a few minutes later for something he had forgotten, Mr. Borgstrom found the air thick with smoke and discovered a flame creeping from the baseboard up the wall to communicate with the rows of boxes of shoes. He dashed some water on the flame and quenched it very quickly. An examination was made of the furnace and connections, but it is still a mystery how the blaze was started, unless it was from a spark rising from the furnace. The damage was slight, portions of the baseboard and lining to the ceiling of the basement being charred. Owing to the stormy weather last evening there were few people on the street, and a fire would have gained great headway before being discovered. Mr. Borgstrom is congratulating himself this morning that he went back to the store, but he is no more pleased than are the rest of the tenants of the building, for there are several offices on the second floor, including Alderman L. A. Barnes, Dr. Green and others.

Judge Ensign decides that if the claim of the town was to be paid by the county, the law would speak of it in singular number, whereas it speaks distinctly of "orders" and does not specify that these orders shall be payable to the chairman of the board of health. Therefore, it is held that the law contemplates the payment to persons who have performed services.

The Superior papers are running down the murderers of Charles Yim. The Evening Telegram last evening speaking of these clever sleuths, said: "They did the work practically with no assistance outside of a little from the sheriff's office and from the Duluth department, very little being from the latter source, however." As a matter of fact, the Superior detectives had absolutely no idea of whether there was one murderer or a dozen, or who they were, till they were given information through Capt. F. E. Resche of the local police. This information was of such a nature that a blind man could not possibly make a mistake.

Four Million Tons Covered on Season Freight Contracts.

Cleveland, Fcb. 28 .- The Iron Trade Review says: The lake freight market has shown further activity in the past week. No ore charters at 75 cents from the head of the lake have been made, and the United States Steel corporation has not made any contracts as far as reported. Upwards of 4,000,000 tons of ore is believed to be covered on season or No. 20 contracts, at 80 cents from Duluth, 70 cents from Marquette and 60 cents from Escanaba. The indications from ore purchases are that Bessemer iron will be made at Valley furnaces in the next year in larger tonnage than ever, that there will be little or no addition to the output of basic iron, and that the output of foundry iron in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys will be less than in the past three years. REUNION

Held By An Indiana Couple Wedded Sixty-

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts lived on a farm adjoining that of her parents for a few years, until the "Western fever," so prevalent among the children of Indiana pioneers, caused them to load their household goods and troops of young children into a "prairie schooner" and start for lowa, in those days the Mecca of Western home-seekers.

They were obtained and the couple set out fifty miles across country on horse-back to secure a license from the clerk of the nation.

When they arrived at their destination they discovered that the clerk's successor had been appointed and that he lived fifty miles further across the mountains. They continued their journey to the new clerk. Upon their arrival at the residence of the new clerk they made known the nurpose of their The temperature was 53 degrees above the statutes, studied a while and shook his head. istic Seance Held In California.

San Jose, Cal., Feb. 28.-The materialized spirit of "Effle Foster" asked William S. Charles to receive a spirit kiss while the lights were low. Charles put out his arms to draw the visitor to him and when a dark lantern was flashed upon them the corporeal form of Miss Elsle Reynolds was seen struggling to free herself from his grasp. Charles was not surprised at the denouement; Miss Reynolds was. So were those who attended the seance, of which the enloyde was the end those who attended the seance, of which the episode was the end.

The seance was the last of a series conducted by Miss Reynolds. Charles had attended the sitting. He is an employee of the Santa Clara Valley Mill and Lumber company and a student of psychological phenomena. He was skeptical of the materializations and confided his doubts to Gilbert Gundersan, Rufus Swink and a young woman. On the final night the four young woman. "The control, 'Effie Foster.' has been playing the game of 'spirit sweetheart' on me for some time, and when on this occasion she invited me to come for a long-promised 'spirit kiss,' I could not resist the temptation of throwing my arms about her neck. Her pleading, 'Don't! don't! O, please don't!' when I grabbed her fell on ears not closed to superstition, and I simply held on to the spirit until my friends, who were in the secret, turned on the flashlight and the lamp. When I caught the medium her outer skirt was pulled up over her head, so as to show the white petticoats, but the 'cappers' who tried to loosen my hold upon her tore them from my hand in the struggle."

The seene which followed the episode was spectacular. Women screamed, men sprang to their feet and the room was in an uproar. The spirit of "Effie Foster" did not return.

"THE GIRL FORM MAXIM'S."

A mediocre production of "The Girl from Maxim's" was given at the Lyceum last evening by a company under the direction of Julius Cahn. It might be said that mediocre productions are about all that Duluth has ever had from productions under the direction of Mr. Cahn. He takes a play that has some success in the large cities, puts into the east a couple of fairly good people and fills the balance with talent of a very poor kind. This was true of the company seen last evening. There were two or three fairly good people and the balonce included about as much wooden material as was ever gathered on a stage at one moment. at one moment.

"The Girl from Maxim's" is advertised as a deliciously naughty French farce that tickled the fancy of the jaded Parislans for some hundreds of nights. Paris may have found it very funny but the American adapter has succeeded in making it absolutely mane, a stupid bore, at least the production given last evening was nothing more than that. It may be that with a company of brilliant farceurs who could carry its possibilities for

Don't Forget That Easter Comes on March 30 This Year

It comes unusually early. We've remembered this in all our preparations, and the advance showings in all our departments are very complete. And what is especially advantageous is that you can rely absolutely upon these arrivals as the correct styles for spring, 1902. It is one thing to announce "spring styles" and another to tell you of CORRECT fashions. One is easy—the other requires the nicest discrimination, a knowledge of what the best customers are using, and what has received the approval of Dame Fashion herself. You have our assurance of the correctness of all merchandise shown here. Quality, style, assortment, price as nowhere else. The new merchandise shown tomorrow comes in advance of our Buyers, who are still in the New York and other Eastern markets making purchases. Some of the best and newest things that will be shown during this season will be here tomorrow.

Special March Sale of Women's and Children's Shoes.

A COMMERCIAL CLUB.

There should be a large attendance of all classes of business and professional men at the meeting to be held at the city hall this evening for the purpose of organizing a Commercial club. The commercial interests of Duluth are sadly in need of a virile and active organization such as a club of this kind,

The need of it was felt badly as recently as yesterday. Other plans of organizations having identical purposes in view have been and a well-kept club cafe appeals to them more than a restaurant. Consequently they can give informal consideration to questions before the club and which concern the whole city without losing any time from business. This results in keeping all questions alive and making them of interest to all. There is no diminution of interest at any time, for all members are well informed of the importance of these varlous questions. It is not necessary for an official or member interested because of love of the club to go out to do missionary work in order to incite enough interest among the members to obtain a quorum. They understand the subjects, and consequently realize their importance, so that the work is well done before it becomes necessary

But the value of such organizations as this is quite generally understood aright. The only question as to the found a plan to overcome all obstacles to success. At any rate, the subject is such an important one at this stage in the commercial and industrial developserves consideration at the hands of a large gathering. It is hoped that every business man and professional man in Duluth will make it a point to be pres-

Just why Mrs. Bindley's hoarders should have deemed themselves such competent ritles in matters literary is a problem and showed a strong tendency to stand up for Harris Brown.

"He is a clever writer," she maintained, "not only for a young man, but for any man. I think we ought to be proud of have deemed themselves such competent crities in matters literary is a problem still awaiting solution.

The fact that they did so consider themselves was evidenced by the spirited discussion of books and authors that took place daily over the coffee cups in the basement dining room.

The chief participants in these interesting verbal bouts were persons whose claim to literary knowledge lay in the fact that they read all the popular books promptly upon their appearance and kept up with the maguzine accounts of their authors. onsequently there was much airing of information concerning the foilbles, habits and hobbies of the writers in question.

There were a chosen few of these self-apointed critics, however, who claimed the distinction of a closer connection with the Mrs. Hinckley, for instance, a woman of antique personality and retrospective eye, could give convincing narrative in which her great-grandparents, her uncles, sisters, cousins and aunts figured prominent-

Miss Topping, who sat diagonally across from Radford and affected an intellectual severity of manner, could go even further in her claims to supremacy. She had at one time actually met and dined with one of our latter-day literary lights; had listened to the revered voice and gazed upon the shining countenance. More than that, she had now in her possession, hidden among her treasures, his autograph and a lock of his hair. None of the boarders had as yet seen these tokens of a great author's esteem, but as Miss Topping was generally conceded to be an exceedingly truthful purgent the mistance of the truthful purgent has mistance of the truthful purgent the mistance of the truthful purgent has mistance of the truthful purgent the mistance of the truthful purgent has mistance of the truthful purgent the mistance of the truthful purgent has mistance of the truthful purgent the mistance of the truthful purgent has mistance of the truthful purgent the mistance of the truthful purgent has mistance of the truthful purgent the mistance of the mistance truthful person, the existence of the trophies was not disputed.

It was the glib remarks of these chesen few that lent sparkle and zest to the cou-ones who listened. Of these the majority were not sufficiently enlightened to penetrate the glittering veneer of high-sound-ing expressions. These unfortunates were reduced to a state of blind and blinking worship quite gratifying to behold.

Among the listeners were exceptions, however. When it was discovered by the Bindley boarders that one of their own secretly aspiring to literary honers, had been quietly working while others talked; that he had actually gained a hearing in certain prominent periodicals, it was as if a bombahell had exploded among

A general smile greeted her defense of Young Brown. Of course, it was only too obvious why she took his side. Had he not been showing her marked attention of

That was another point which, in the estimation of these critics, argued against the young man's good judgment. The fact of his interest in Miss Raymond certainly showed a weak intellect. She was a sweet, pretty little creature, no doubt, but ut-terly namby-pamby. She allowed her pompadour to drop over one eye and showed entirely too much interest in the fit of her dresses. If Brown were a genuinely clever man he certainly could not fall in love with a girl of that type. Thus commented the others the others.

At length it happened that much talk took place among them concerning a rising newspaper writer. Phillip Drake by name, who of late had been causing quite a sensation by his clever sketches in the Daily Discourse. Much mention was made of him when Brown was present and the chosen three were ardent in their praises of the new writer's efforts. praises of the new writer's efforts. "There, now," stated Radford, with conviction, "is a fellow who has a brilliant future assurred. The masterly way ne handles his subjects is nothing short of marvelous. "Indeed, you are right," agreed Miss Topping, emphatically. "His work shows such maturity of thought. I understand "His articles are the cleverist things I have read in years," came Mrs. Hinckley's have read in years," came Mrs. Hinckley's vigorous announcement.

Then it was that a dissenting voice made itself audible. Harris Brown was speaking. The others looked up, electrified at what they heard. "I cannot say that I particularly care for Phillip Drake," said Brown, very calmiy.

They started at him in open indignation. His daring! His effrontery! It was positively insufferable.

Naturally, he might feel some jealousy at hearing his rival praised, but there was no excuse for his giving vent to his feelings in this disgraceful manner.

ings in this disgraceful manner.
"Pray, what have you to say against Drake's writings?" demanded Radford Then Miss Raymond, tossing back her pretty pompadour in the excitement of the occasion, spoke up with a new eagerness.
"There are several objections," she interposed, not giving Brown a chance to speak. "In the first place, Philip Drake's writings show a lack of literary finish. Secondly, they contain many crudit'es. Thirdly, they betray an uncertain touch. Was there ever such impertinence? Staring eyes of disapproyal were leveled upon her. "The question was asked of Mr. Brown," observed Miss Topping, in severe rebuke.
The pempadour was inclined with exaggerated deference, while the blue eyes smiled and sparkled.

"Why do you object to Phillip Drake,
Mr. Brown?" persisted Mrs. Hinckley.
The young man laid down his knife and fork and quietly faced his interlocu-"that I myself write those articles in the it to the banking place."

"Yes, I. A man may use a nom de plume, you know."

A silence such as never before had been known at the Bindley table descended heavily upon the assembled company. In the midst of the oppressive calm young Brown arose and escorted Miss Raymond from the dining room.

"Oh!" cried the girl, when the two had reached the seclusion of the parlor.

vigorous old age possible. It keeps the few years. Few women, even though Service To North Dakota Points Is Wretchedly Slow.

> Ask Establishment Of Through Cars To Junction Points.

The jobbers of Duluth want quicker reight service to the West. They believe that the direct routes leading from this city into the Northwest should allow them to deliver goods to their customers in shorter time than is required at present. One improvement they ask from the traffic officials of the two Northern roads is a through ear service to juntion and principal points in the field at which a great deal of The great difficulty lies in the time required to carry shipments of merclandise consigned to points west of Grand Forks. The jobbers believe that the service to Grand Forks and Crookston could be improved in the same way. But the chief criticism is made of the time necessary to lay down goods at points located on branch lines of the two Northern roads. There are through freight trains, but at the first point at local car loaded at Duluth, the car is set out on a siding. After the goods consigned to that point are unloaded, the car is attached to the next freight that comes along-probably a local freight-and taken to the next station to which goods have been shipped. Then there is another delay. And so it goes until the shipment for the final point ultimately reaches its destination. There are four or five intsances of branch lines running north from the main line in North Dakota. A car loaded with merchandise from Duluth through freight in order to unload a small fraction of the carload. Then it but the bullet glanced off, and he made is picked up by a local freight and his escape. In this he remained during branch line train, the shipments destined up the branch line may be laid over for three days. Delays of two days at these junction points are common. Another cause of delay is the abandoning of freight trains unless a minimum tonnage is ready to be moved when its schedule time for departure arrives. This system is being adopted on the Northern Pacific as well as by the Great Northern, and it is claimed by jobbers that it frequently causes a day or two of delay. Trains may be abandonea two or three times before a shipment reaches its destination. What the jobbers want is a system of through ears for junction or important destinations. The jobbers believe that a through car ought to be provided, for instance, to Grand Forks and Crookston, to Minot and to each of the junc-

The jobbers reply, "There never will be enough business until we can assure our customers to a dead certainty that their goods will not be halted on the way. Unless you conserve and help us build up our business we can never reach the true proportions of the business we should have." One shipment of goods from Duluth to a point on one of the branch lines referred to was made on Dec. 12. It reached its destination Jan. 9. The consignment consisted of holiday goods, which were practically a dead loss to the purchaser. He may be able to hold some of them over until next Christmas, but he will not feel any better toward a transportation system that permits these delays. It is claimed that these goods should not be on the road at the longest for over a weekindeed, they should be delivered to the purchaser in three or four days in many The jobbers also want refrigerator

They do not insist on a daily refrigerator car service, but they do feel that a weekly or semi-weekly ser-The great difficulty experienced in bringing about these improvements in service is that the traffic men do not believe that there is enough business to warrant them in instituting it. The position of the jobbers is that if they are not allowed to develop the business along these lines there may never be enough trade to warant it. They argue that the providing of the service is absolutely precedent to the development of the trade. Business does not build up in a day. It grows after it is shown that it is possible to handle it to as great or greater advantage than it can be handled from other points. The jobbers demonstrate that it is as essential to the railroads that they be given a chance to improve their trade as it is to the jobbers themselves. If the trade is never begun it will never be developed. Consequently, the railroads are as short-sighted of their own interests as they are with respect to the interests of

The Mayoralty Contest.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In a recent issue of the News Tribune,
S. H. Moer, attorney for Mayor Truelsen in the former mayoralty contest, is quoted as being committed to the view that there is no question as to the validity of ballots unsigned by judges of election with their initials as required by law. I find, on the contrary, that the question was once raised and argued by him, at length, in the plaintiff's brief in such case, for appeal of which to the supreme court Judge Moer was responsible as attorney for the appellant. It seems the question was only raised upon the appeal, however, and I understand the fact to be that ballot No.

challenged on the recount for other reason than the fact of the omission of initials of judges. The supreme court, in the decision of such case, directed attention to the fact that the ballot No. "43" in question was not objected to by the appellant upon the trial in district court.

The contestant "expressly waived any ob-Yery small and as easy to take as sugar. CURE SICK HEADACHE.

More Serious Trouble.

A cough is not much in itself, but if neglected it is extremely dangerous. We want to advise you to avoid getting coughs, or if you do how to get over them the easiest way.

Nearly always, as you undoubtedly know, a cough is accompanied by fever. Where fever exists the vital light of life is being consumed unnecessarily fast. We are all much the worse after such an attack. Then, too, that cough tears and irritates the delicate membrane of the throat and lungs, and when you have succeeded in healing it, you can again draw on your vitality, but the old scars are there and the next little exposure will bring back the trouble twice as bad as you experienced it before.

We are enthusiastic about Vinol and guarantee its action especially for coughs for it is a great tonic reconstructor. We do not know of anything better to build one up. There is nothing that will restore lost strength and energy, that will help the system ward off disease like Vinol. In Vinol is contained those active curative principles found in the liver of the cod, and we all know that cod liver oil was valuable for all bronchial and pulmonary troubles. Vinol contains all the curative elements of Cod Liver oil-yet contains no oil and is delicious to the taste. The following letter says: "I had been suffering with a severe cough and cold for a number of weeks and having heard so much about your Vinol, as being a cure for such troubles, I decided to try a bottle. I have used two bottles and I can truthfully state that I am now entirely cured, and feel in better health than ever before in my which goods are to be taken from the life." J. M. Brown, 319 W. counted against him," is the language o counted against him," is the language of the opinion. From the "paper book" in the case it appears that the attention of counsel was first directed to ballot No. "3" as to defect of omission of judges' initials thereon, by the trial court. It must, therefore, have been first challenged upon other grounds, such objection only being waived on the trial in the view of the paintiff's atterney. The exhibits of the plaintiff's attorney. The exhibits being before the supreme court, at least, the question was there raised in behalf of the contestant, as stated. As claimed by the plaintiff's attorney in his brief, "Inferentially the court held in the Gay case that the requirements of section 56 (95) were mandatory." The sections thus referred to are corresponding sections of chapter 4 of the laws of 1891 and the gen-eral statutes of Minnesota, 1894. In con-nection with the further statement to ef-fect that the laws of '91 and '93 are the same as to provisions relative to initials of judges, upon which the argument also depends, the view of the attorney for the philntiff is sufficiently indicated. The latter statement having reference to present condition of the law is explained no doubt, by construction accounting as sur-plusage language contained in provision of section 130, general statutes 1894, as the section, is re-enacted by the laws of 1893; the assertion as to the law being unchanged in effect being undoubtedly cor-Section 130, general statutes, Minnesota, 1891, contains, among others, the following provision: "If two or more ballots be found to be so folded together as to present the appearance of a single ballot, they shall be taid aside until the counting of the ballots to sit the lovest to otherwise." the ballots in all the boxes is otherwise completed, and if it shall then appear, on comparison on comparison of the said ballots with the number of ballots of the same class appearing by the poll lists to have been cast, that the two ballots so have been cast, that the two ballots so folded together were cost by one elector, they shall be preserved and laid to one side and not counted; nor shall either of said ballots so folded together be counted if both be marked and clearly cast by one elector." It is evident that with rejection of ballots covered by this clause the number of ballots might be reduced below the number of electors shown to have the number of electors shown to have voted by the poll lists.

Section 130 further provides that "if the ballots in any box are found to exceed in number the number of votes cast in such number the number of votes cast in such box, they shall be first examined to ascertain if they are all properly marked with the initials of the judges having charge of the ballots, and, in case any are found not so marked, they shall be preserved and laid to one side and not counted if the total number still be in excess of the laid to one side and not counted if the total number still be in excess of the proper number as shown by the poil lists."

The excess intended by the subsequent provision is one arising independently of the application of the rule found in the first provision above quoted, and it follows that the language—"and not counted if the total number still be in excess of the proper number as shown by the poil

INFATUATION

Of Well Known Braddock Man Causes Double Tragedy.

Pittsburg, Pa Feb. 28.-The mad infatuation of a married man for a woman other than his wife, which has been on for several months, ended at 11 o'clock vesterday morning in a house at 803 Watson street, when William A. Rinard, a steel blower at the Edgar-Thompson works, and one of the best known men in Braddock, shot and killed Margaret Lambert, or Wilbert, formerly of London, It all happened in the space of two minutes, aithough the circumstances which led to it, cover a period of

The Lambert woman's right name was Mrs. Andrew P. Wilbert. Her maiden name was Lambert. Some years ago she was married to A. P. Wilbert, a bartender at the Hoffman house. Three a bartender at the Hoffman house. Three years ago they separated.
Rinard was the son of a prominent real estate and insurance man of Braddock. Last Christmas he met the Wilbert woman and became infatuated. His wife is a member of a well-known family in Braddock.
Wednesday night two traveling men called at the house where Mrs. Wilbert lived, and a little while later drove away with her and another woman. As they mates of the house.

The woman was found lying in the center of the room with a bullet wound in her head and one under her heart.

Rinard was near the fireplace with a large, ragged hole through the head.

Both were dead.

INDIAN'S GHOST Frightened the Horses, Causing a Runaway. Philippi, W. Va., Feb. 28.-A ghost appeared to a party of sleight riders on the Middle Fork river at Rich Mountain, causing the frightened young men and causing the frightened young men and women to lose control of the horses, which ran away, wrecking the sleigh and injuring several of the party. The nocturnal visits of this frightful, unearthly apparition have been causing great excitement, and it is said to be the spirit of Beck-on-go-ha-la, a noted Indian chief of the Tuscaroras, who was killed on that spot in a battle with the Delawares nearly two centuries ago. It is the common belief of a great many people of that region today that the Indian's evil manitou inhabits the wilderness between Roaring oreek and Middle Fork river. Swedish Lutheran Synod established in the conference. Decides To Introduce It In Churches.

Of Great Interest To the Several Churches In Duluth.

Intention Is To Ultimately Use English Language Exclusively.

Dr. A. F. Eimquist, pastor of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church at the West End, Rev. J. A. Krantz, pastor of the First Swedish Lutheran church in Duluth, and Rev. Chr. Swenson, pastor of the Elin Swedish Lutheran church, of West Duluth, returned yesterday afternoon from Red Wing, Minn., where they were ministerial delegates to the meeting of the Minnesota conference of the Swedish Luthon this movement. Dr. Elmquist says that there was not one opposing vote

It is not meant that preaching and teaching in the English language will be carried or exclusively, beginning with the present time, but it will be introduced in the various churches in the conference as fast as practicable, the idea being to have all services conducted in the English language within the next two or three years. Most of the younger ministers in the conference have had the benefit of an English education and are practically qualified to begin preaching in that language, but the process will come a little slower to the older ministers. One of the objects of the movement is to bring about a union of the English synod of the Northwest and the Augustana synod and, at the Red Wing conference, the invitation to join was extended to the English synod.
The latter synod is quite strong in the Northwest. It was organized in 1891 and Rev. G. H. Trabert, of Minneapolis, is the president of the synod. The organization belonged originally to the Augustana synod, but went out as an independent congregation and then formed the English synod. At the Red Wing conference a committee was appointed to negotiate with the English synod regarding the proposed union and was empowered to act. The members of this committee are Rev. A. P. Monten, of Fargo, N. D., chairman; Rev. P. Sjelom, of Dunnell, Minn.; Rev. F. M. Eckman, of Center City, Minn.; Dr. A. F. Elmquist, of Duluth. Minn.; Rev. A. Bergin, of Cambridge, Minn.; J. S. Carlson, Phd., of the university of Minnesota; Professor A. A. Stonberg, of the Augustus Adol-The committee held a meeting in St.

One of the most important steps taken at the conference and one that will be of great interest to the Swedish Lutheran churches of this city, was the decision reached to inaugurate preaching services in the English language and leach the Sunday schools in the English language throughout the conference. WREATHS

Placed On the Tomb Of Washington By Prince Henry.

Washington, Feb. 28.-Prince Henry of Prussia journeyed to Mount Vernon yesterday afternoon and placed two wreaths on the tomb of Washington. He approached the grave of the first president with bared head, and that there might be nothing irreverent in the erremony asked the holders of a dozen cameras who stood around to refrain from photographing him. Prince Henry walked to the Washington ome and was driven from there down over the slope of the hill to the tomb. When the iron gate of the tomb was opened he removed his cap and entered. Two large wreaths made at Washington by his order already had been sent to the tomb, and taking them up he formally set them in place. ELEVATORS

Are To Be Erected By

Austin, Minn., Feb. 28.-A meeting of the Independent and Farmers' elevators

The object of this association is to establish more friendly relations between the independent elevators and line elevators by adjusting ruinous competition lights at local stations, and by the arrangement of a more equitable margin for the hundling of grain ment, with an addition covering local conditions. The new features relate only to the lines not members of the Western Passenger association.

YEOMAM WANTED

Alleged To Have Committed Forgeries In Ohio.

New York, Feb. 28.—De Witt Clinton Hoffman, a yeoman on the receiving ship Columbia, has been arrested at the Brooklyn navy yard on a telegram from Sheriff Barr, of Adams county, Ohio, where he is said to be wanted on charges of forgery on the Ohio State National bank and the Hoffman is said to have gone under the names of James Raymond Bayly and John B. Andrews. His home is in Dallas, Tex., where, it is said, his uncle is president of a more equitable margin for the hundling of grain.

The association also contemplates organizing a co-operative commission company, and will also secure members on the boards of trade at Chicago, Minneapolis, Duluth and New York.

The meeting was presided over by National Vice President E. L. Bailou, of Larrabee, Iowa.

It was reported that the activity of the National Grain Growers' association had promoted fourteen new farmers' elevators in the last sixty days in the Northwest, as follows:

AN INTERESTING FIGHT.

In some respects, therefore, the fight on the Jacobson bill will be even more interesting than the fight on the late tax bill. Other things enter into it to make it more interesting. For instance, like other leaders and great people, Mr. Jacobson has enemies in the house who would not like to do him the credit of credit for putting some tax legislation through that will meet with popular ap-proval, it may have some effect upon his chances. On the other hand, there are others who are interested in other candidates for that position who would not like to see Mr. Jacobson get such an advantage as this, and they are looking doubtfully upon his bili, whether because of its political application or not it is not seemly or possible to state. For instance, Mr. Dunn, the state auditor, is very much opposed to it, and if he is not a candidate for state auditor himself-which he says he is not—he is understood to be backing his chief deputy, Mr. Iverson, for the place. Some people have even affected to see a connection between this interesting set of theories and an editorial in yesterday morning's Pioneer Press opposing the Jacobson bili. The connection is traced through the facts that there is in the state auditor's office a former Pioneer Press man, and that the facts and figures presented in the Pioneer Press editorial have a marked family resemblance to some that can be had for the asking in the from Blue Earth county, he is the author of a bill to repeal the dog tax, and his name is Nils Nyquist. This double-dyed enemy of proper tax legis-lation occupies the position of trying to take away from the state one of its chief revenues, at a time when the state legislature is laboring earnestly and perspiringly to do something that will bring more taxes into the treasury. This humorsome and deceptive gentleman, under cover of friendship for dogs, has been engaged in trying to force through the legislature a bill repealing a tax on canines. This in spite of the fact that the dogs of the state, as shown by the biennial message of ex-Governor John Lind to the legislature in 1899, are assessed for taxation at more than half the valuation of all the bonds and stocks. His efforts have been somewhat disregarded up to yesterday, but then his fell designs were discovered and voted down by the house. Senator M. J. Daly, of Otter Tail county, yesterday introduced into the senate a pet bill of his which was turned down at the last session, but which he hopes to have better luck with this time. It provides that grain in elevators shall be taxed. It provides that grain in elevators on May 1 shall be taxed in the name of the owners of the elevators, who, if they do not own

This bill would probably make it more interesting for the grain elevators in Duluth than the tax bill whose obsequies were performed the other day in the house. The old law makes no express provision for the taxation of grain, except that it requires all property to be taxed. Senator Daly's proposition that the elevator man could have a lien on the grain for taxes might cause some interesting complications. For instance, if there were in one of the Duluth elevators May 1, 1902, a lot of wheat belonging to somebody other than the elevator man, it would be assessed then. The taxes on it would become due on the first Monday in January, 1903, and the elevator man would have to pay them. Then he is to re-imburse himself out of the grain that was taxed. In the meantime, however, some time in June, 1902, that grain was shipped out by boat to Buffalo, sent through to the seaboard and exported to Europe. By the time the elevator man begins to hunt around with that lien the grain it covers will have been ground up in European mills, baked into bread in European bakerles, and turned into flesh and blood and bone in the digestive laboratory of some honest German peasant. Whereupon the Duluth elevator man, with his lien, will find himself involved in a hopeless and how he is going to get it, and what disfiguring pimples. he is going to do with it when he gets it.

Senator Daly's bill will be popular with the elevator men of Minnesota, because they hate to see grain go out of the state into the elevators of a rival state, forced out by taxes that apply here and do not apply there. It will hardly be popular with the farmers, because it is quite clear that whatever tax is paid on grain the farmer will have to stand, for the price of grain is fixed in the markets of the world, and is not based on such a sudden proposition as a new tax on the grain of Minnesota. Therefore price on the market is not affected, but the farmer's returns will be short just the amount of the tax.

Senator Sivright said yesterday afternoon in a conversation with The Herald upon his proposed constitutional amendment permitting a tonnage tax on iron ore, to be distributed as the egislature sees fit, that he could see the justice of the objection of St.
Louis county to having the taxes on its property eloped with that way, and he thought that the amendment ought to be fixed so the legislature could not do that. As the bill stands, however, the legislature could do anything it wanted with the money, perhaps even to spending it for making Republican campaign thunder by fighting the consolidation of competing iron ore rail-

TOURING ABROAD. Capt. Shea Writes Home

From Cairo, Egypt. Capt. John Shea, of this city, who left here in December for a tour of Europe, writes from Cairo, Egypt, to A. Murphy that he is having a delightful trip and thoroughly enjoying himself. He spent a week in the Egyptian city and visited a week in the Egyptian city and visited all places of interest there. It has 264 mosques, with as many minarets. At the south of the city is the Nile, with its narrow strips of green, ten miles in width, then the pyramids and the sphinx, standing in the border of the great Liblan desert. He also stopped at Naples and ascended Mount Vesuvius, went to the city of Pompeil and saw the buried city of centuries gone by. Alexandria, Egypt, was his next stop, and there he saw Pompey's pillar, which stands near a Moslem cemetery. It is a handsome granite shaft, nine feet in diameter, which with hase and partly ruined capwhich with base and partly ruined capital, lifts itself 104 feet high. Lake Superior Mining Institute to Meet on Minnesota Ranges.

Secretary A. J. Yungbluth, of the Lake Superlor Mining Institute, has sent out a circular announcing that the regular meeting of the institute for this year will be held on the Minnesota ranges, beginning on Tuesday, Aug. 19.

The meeting will be made the occasion for a visit to the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges, It will be remembered that the institute met in Duluth in the spring of 1895, At that time the open pit mines on institute met in Duluth in the spring of 1895. At that time the open pit mines on Mesahu range were closed down, and the members were disappointed in not being able to observe their operation. Great interest is taken by the members in the developments since that time, and the improvements in the method of mining. An innovation will be made for this meeting. The papers to be read will be printed and distributed some time before the meeting, so that consideration may be given the views advanced and more intelligent discussion be provided for.

Will Ask For Bids.

The board of public work has decided to advertise for bids for the improving of Nineteenth avenue east, from Fourth street to South street.

The avenue is now in a very dangerous condition and a disgrace to the city. The property owners have decided to narrow the roadway to 24 feet and pave it with tar macadam, putting in substantial sewers and leaving a grass plot between the sidewalk and the curb.

The board has asked the city engineer's office to prepare plans and specifications for the Jenswold street open cut improvement. This will have to be done before the board can advertise for bids.

It is believed that the membership should represent every branch and class of trade, industry, traffic and the professions. The need of such a renlezvous as the club rooms would furnish is universally admitted by all that have been consulted on the subject. The great demand for a concentration of the business and professional interests of the city in behalf of ways of improvement has long been felt. The purpose of the active movers in this proposition is to provide an organization that shall enlist all these interests and to make their welfare the policy of the club. Freight and passenger traffic matters need especial attention it is said, while questions of legislation have always lacked organized effort for support or opposition, as the best interests of the city may appear. The committee that called the meeting will propose an intlation fee of $10 and annual dues of $18. The of the Commercial clubs in St. Paul and Minneapolis are $20 a year. It is thought by some that the dues can be reduced to $15 or even $12 a year, but this will depend on the size of the membership and the lines of expense

Rycroft, of Chicago—There is no demand for corn here and 1 understand Minucapolis is shipping corn to this market. Chicago—The Mulhall Roller Mill of Oklahoma says growing wheat crou is badly in need of rain or moisture.

The Read Milling company, of Indian territory, says—The condition of the wheat crop is bad and prospects most gloomy in years."

The Geary Mill company, of Oklahoma, says—Wheat looks sorry.

The Modern Miller says favorable weather with general and generous rains of late has prevailed since winter wheat emerged from the snow covering. The plant has been greatly benefited by moisture and its condition is fully up to a good normal. Root growth is reported as being vigorous. Offerings of old wheat by farmers and country elevators are fairly liberal.

A. H. Farnum, of Chicago—Corn shows more than on any previous day that it is very strong. Kansas City even stronger than we are. Quite a lot of long corn has been sold here today and the market has advanced and is firmer than before. A. H. Farnum's Chicago morning gossip—Wheat—We are not likely to have as many damage reports on wheat today as we have had the past two days. Good rains through the winter wheat country as far as Kansas. In Kansas they are light. The feeling on the curb last night was easy. The increase in wheat receipts, in a way, off-sets crop news.

Corn—There was a good deal of realizing in the latter part of the session yesterday. I would not be surprised to see a lower opening this morning. I feel quite confident corn is a purchase. There is no sign of the increase in receipts, about which we heard so much a week ago, and

EXTREME DULLNESS

Market Throughout the Session.

With West Restricted Business.

The Market Was Strong Tillman Makes Further Early But Turned Weak.

New York, Feb. 28 .- Opening dealings in stocks were small and price changes were mimportant and very evenly divided between gains and losses. There were large orders for Norfolk & Western, but the gain was only %.

The volume of business decreased considerably and contrary movements in a few important stocks increased the irregularity of the general market. Profit taking lowered Brooklyn Transit a large fraction, while Amalgamated Copper and Missouri Pacific advanced as much. There was a slight renewal of yesterday's demand for Chesapeake & Ohio and Norfolk & Western, but other railroads were neglected. Realizing on the resumption of dividend payments on Evansville & Terre Haute depressed it 2¼ and the preferred iost 1. Northwestern rose 1½ and reacted and Great Northern preferred after opening down 1 recovered 2¼. Ann Arbor, Colorado Fuel, Toledo, St. Louis & Western, Wheeling & Lake Erie first preferred, Kansas City Southern preferred and the American ice stocks advanced 1612 the Colorado Fuel of the Senate shall be no longer in force and effect."

After the reading of the resolution by the clerk, Mr. Burrows presented the points. Glucose preferred and American Agriculture Chemist preferred fell 15/6/2, but the latter rallied over a point.

Baltimore & Ohio rose a sharp fraction and Pittsburg, C., C. & St. L. 1/2.

The trans-continental stocks were slightly better with St. Paul leading. An action and Pittsburg, C., C. & St. L. 1/2. The trans-continental stocks were slightly better with St: Paul leading. An active buying movement developed in the Detroit Southern stocks lifting the common 1½ and preferred 1. Colorado Southern second preferred lost a point. Toward noon the market became semi-stagnant and wholly uninieresting.

Bonds were steady and less active. Trading was small in Wahash debenture B's, but a strong demand for Fort Worth & Denver City 6's carried them over 114.

There were advances of about a point in Canada Southern, Kansas City Southern and Keokuk & Des Moines. Keokuk & Des Moines preferred rose 2 and Kansas City Southern preferred 3½. An active seiling movement carried the whole list off sharply, declines reaching 1 to 1½ for many active stocks. The level of prices generally fell below last night.

The selling movement proved to be only spasmodic and as the bears did not follow up their advantage, prices hardened slightly. None of the prominent stocks recovered to yesterday's close and there was a dribble of liquidation in the obscure specialties.

Prices slipped away again under mod-cialties.

Prices slipped away again under moderate liquidation and losses of a fraction to 15% were established in all but a few stocks. The poor bank statement foreshadowed the further heavy requirements in sight for remittances abroad and to the interior aroused uneasiness over the money prospect. The closing was dull and heavy.

SENATORS CENSURED

Prevailed In the Stock Resolution Concerning RAVINGS OF Tillman and McLaurin Passed By Senate.

Lack of Wire Connections | Also Releases Them From the Charge of Contempt.

> Remarks Which Are Later Withdrawn.

Washington, Feb. 28.-As soon as the journal was approved of in the senate this morning, Mr. Burrows presented the resolution of censure upon Senators Tillman and McLaurin.

Following is the full text of the resolution recommended by the committee: "That it is the judgment of the sengularity of the general market. Profit | ate that the senators from South Caro-> report of the majority of the committee, saying in this connection, it was understood that those members of the committee, who did not agree with the majority, should have opportunity to present their report.

> Mr. McComas (Md. said he would submit the views of the minority.

The report of the majority was then read. The report recited the history of the altercation in the senate and on the language used by the offenders. The repot then continues as follows:

"That the conduct of the two senators was an infringement of the privileges of the senate, a violation of its rules and derogatory to its character, tending to bring the body itself into public contempt cannot be questioned or denied. Indeed the senate by a unanimous vote has already placed on record its condemnation of the senators by declaring both guilty of contempt. The majority of the committee is of opinion that legal effect of adjudging these senators in contempt of the senate was to suspend their functions as senators and that such punishment for disorderly behavior was clearly within the power of the senate, but the conclusion they have reached makes it unnecessary to discuss this question. The offenses committed by the two sepators was not in the opinion of a majority of the committee equal gravity. The charge made by Mr. Tillman had been once before the senate specifically denied in parliamentary language by Mr. McLaurin. The offense charged against Mr. McLaurin was among the most reprehensible a senator could commit. He could not ignore or fail to refute it and hope to be longer respected as either a man or senator.

"Mr. McLaurin did not commence the the altercation in the senate and on the language used by the offenders.

"Mr. McLaurin did not commence the encounter, but only stood in his place at his desk where he was speaking and resisted the attack that was made upon him. In other words his offense was confined to the use of unparliamentary language, for which he had unusual provocation. Nevertheless, his offense was a violation of rules of the senate of such a character that in the opinion of the committee, it should be condemned. In the case of Mr. Tillman, the record shows that the altercation was commenced by the charge he made against Mr. McLaurin. Such a charge is inexcusable except in connection with a reso-menced by the charge he made against Mr. McLaurin. Such a charge is inexcusable except in connection with a resolution to investigate. Mr. Tillman not only made the charge without any avowal of a purpose to investigate, but also disclaiming knowledge of evidence to establish the offense and this he said, after the charge had been specifically and unqualifiedly denied by Mr. McLaurin.

"Such a charge, under any circumstances would be resented by any man worthy to be a senator, but made as it was in this instance, its offensiveness was greatly intensified and the result must have been foreseen by Mr. Tillman if he took any thought, ns he should of the consequences of his statements. This feature of his offense, coupled with the fact that he also commenced the encounter by quitting his seat some distance away from Mr. McLaurin, and, rushing violently upon him, struck him in the face, makes the case one of such exceptional misbehavior that a majority of the committee is of the opinion that this offense is of greater gravity than that of Mr. McLaurin.

"The penalty of a censure by the senate in nature of things must vary in actual severity in proportion to the public sense of the gravity of the offense of which the offender has been adjudged guilty.

"Therefore, now, from the facts, that in the opinion of the majority of the committee, there is a difference in the gravity of the offenses under consideration, your committee is of opinion that the public mittee, there is a difference in the gravity of the offenses under consideration, your committee is of opinion that the public good and dignity of the senate will be alike best promoted and protected, so far as this particular case is concerned, by imposing upon each senator by formal vote, the censure of the senate for the offense by him committed and therefore recommend the adoption of the resolution."

J.) having voted in the affirmative said that in view of the remark of Mr. Tillman, he would change his vote. When the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Burrows de-manded that Mr. Tillman's words be taken down. When the words we're read Mr. Tillman said that he did not intend that his words be offensive and if they were he would withdraw them.

the demand for iron, is unstable, and an ad valorem tax is steady. There are different ores of different values, and an intlexible tonnage tax cannot be fair. The ore on the stock pile is worth 56 cents to $1.14 per ton, and it is proposed to tax the low priced ore at 5 cents, as well as that of greater value, which is confiscation." Mr. Laybourn gave an earnest argument against the tonnage tax, and incidentally said he would like to know of one instance where Mr. Jacobson had not opposed the interests of St. Louis county.

Mr. Dobbin, of Hennepin, thought the tonnage tax was a step in the right direction, but he thought it should be graded according to the value of the ore. The tax commission doubted the constitutionality of a tonnage tax, and he doubted if it were best to risk letting the mines out altogether through an unconstitutional tax. As to the public service corporations, he did not agree with the plan of reaching the value of the franchises. He thought gross earnings taxes were better, but he believed they should go to the com-munities in which the property is situated, and not to the state. G. W. Armstrong and J. A. Bishop of India Speaks at Volunteer Student Convention.

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 27.—The principal address this morning at the student volunteer movement convention was Bishop Thoburn's subject was: "Spirit-ual Men Needed for Spiritual Work in Missions." He said: In a broad sense all Christian work is spiritual work, and certain kinds of work in most mission helds, which are alike needful, and yet seem to differ radically. For instance, in many fields it is found desirable to have industrial work of various kinds; boys are taught useful trades and girls are employed in such kinds of work as will enable them to earn a Heelfhood i after life. The art of printing must be mastered; schools established in which the teaching does not differ practically from that found in schools in the home field. As the missionaries increase in chaims of business often become both heavy and urgent, and the man who is responsible for the imancial manager ment need not differ materially from the Christian banker at his desk in a Christian sare affluent with unprecedented wealth, If you take the wealth of the evangelical Christians of the United States alone, it represents a financial ability many times beyond the reach of all the heathen religions, and even nuttons, combined, and would, if consequences are a financial ability many times beyond the reach of all the heathen religions, and even nuttons, combined, and would, if consequences are a financial ability many times beyond the reach of all the heathen religions, and even nuttons, combined, and would, if consequences are a financial to the Christian world ought to give ten times that unount, for the Protestant nations are affluent with unprecedented wealth, If you take the wealth of the States alone, it represents a financial ability many times beyond the reach of all the momey for God's work. only mention four. First, only spiritual persons can lead an inquirer to Christ. As in Christian lands, large numbers are As in Christian lands, large numbers are often gathered into Christian communities before they are converted, in the spiritual sense of the term, and this makes it necessary that leaders, with special gifts for directing inquiries to Christ, should be within easy reach. The great task which is set before all missionaries is that of bringing disciples to the feet of the great Teacher. No mun can do this successfully unless he himself has found the living Christ, and lives in daily communion with Him.

Next, only spiritual persons can teach those who are babes in Christ, and without pradical teaching new converts, who, in the truest sense of the world, are spiritual babes, can make little or no who, in the truest sense of the world, are spiritual babes, can make little or no progress. Indeed, the whole Christian church has not yet fully mastered this simple practical truth. No gift is more needed than that of the New Testament teachings. It is recorded in Christian lands, but absolutely necessary in every mixture tield. in the third place, only spiritual missionaries can develop those New Testament gifts which, as truly in our day as in New Testament times, are needful to the development of every Christian church. Those gifts are needed here, but they are ten-fold more urgently called for in mission fields. Only spiritual men who possess these can direct young disciples in seeking the equipment without which they can never be useful In Christ's service.
Lastly 1 would venture to say that only spiritual men can rise up spiritual churches. Every experienced Christian worker understands this fact so well worker understands this fact so well that it may seem unnecessary to call attention to it, and yet in the mission field many are prone to overlook it. I venture to affirm that in every mission filed in the great outlying non-Christian world it will be found that one of the most urgent questions before the missionaries is that of devising means of raising the spiritual tone of their people. This task can only be performed by those who, in the best sense of the word, are deeply spiritual. Rev. Junius W. Millard, D.D., of Balti-more spoke on "The Paster As An Edu-cational Missionary Force." He said:

for the spread of the commerce of the gospel. As the executive of the great commission, he stands at the head of the local church as its leader. The layman is entrusted with the stewardship of money, the pastor with the stewardship of facts and forces.

The foreign mission problem is how to arouse the church of Christ to a holy zent for the salvation of the world. As his avowed enemies in the language of by their inactivity, the pastors are responsible for past fallures, so by their co-operation they will prove the greatest factors in solving this problem. They are to be educational forces among their regular and are to do their work mainly people, and are to do their work mainly It is the fashion nowadays to decry breaching, and we are learning to put its stead social betterment and upilitation. ing work. I want to emphasize the need for true, Christianitke, gospei preaching. If we could get every evangelical pastor in the United States and Canada preach once a year on missions, we nid see a mighty advance, and three or four rousing sermous a year in all the pulpits of Christendom would take the world for the great King.

What we do want to do by our preaching is to develop a missionary atmosphero in our churches so real that the casual morbilities will be obtained. worshipper will be attracted by it. Every public service should be characterized by world-wide views and interests. So, let the minister study missions and pray for missions in his study, before he preaches missions from his pulpit. And in his preaching let the paster have two definite objects in view. First, he number and the work enlarges, the claims of business often become both heavy and urgent, and the man who is two definite objects in yiew. First, he is to find the money for God's work. Instead of nineteen millions unnually,

Very few Christians can attend meetings like this, but the pastor in his sermon can lay the burden of the call of the Christ upon the consciences of his hearers, and in his public prayers he can pray that the Lord of the harvest would send forth more laborers into his

THE STONING OF STEPHEN. And Now the Beautiful

International Sunday School Lesson For March 2nd, 1902.

Acts 7:54—8:2. "Now when they heard these things, they were cut to the heart, and they gnashed on him with their teeth. But he, being full of the Holy Ghost, looked up steadfastly into heaven, and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing on the right hand of God, But they cried out with a loud voice, and stopped their ears, and rushed upon him with one accord; and they cast him out of the city, and stoned him; and the witnesses laid down their garments at the feet of a young man named Saul. And they stoned Stephen, calling upon the Lord, and saying.

The whole drift of Stephen's speech was done and his doom was sealed.

The whole drift of Stephen's speech was work, Feb. 28.—The pace that calling upon the Lord, and saying, Lord Jesus, receive my spirit. stephen had to answer before the Sannedrin. But he was careless about his personal interests, because he was so solicitious for the progress of the truth of the Christian religion. There seems to have been no excitement manifest in his voice or manner; but utmost respect. "Brethren and Fathers, hearken," he said. Then with the true passion of intense interest in the matter in hand, he proceeded to speak of things that belonged to the common knowledge of the day in a way that indicated that a msot uncommon interest attached to them. In his speech he made no direct reply to the charge on which he had been arraigned, for that might have led him into a tacit denial of the fundamental truth for which he had stood; and he was not a man to yield his ground merely to escape some impending peril. He was a man of heroic devotion to high principles. Throughout his speech, however, he ever kept the charge in mind. The charge of blasphemy against Moses was disproved by his claim that he regarded Moses as the great prophet of Jesus; and the general eligious tone of the address was sufficiently reverent to acquit him of any intentional disloyalty to God or His not fit that he should live." The Phari-Peter usually dealt with his detract- celving the blessings of God, only he ors on the basis of prophecy, seeking to show that in Jesus the Messlanic prophecies of the Old Testament were fulfilled. But Stephen sought to present Christianity as the culmination of all Jewish history. Peter dealt with the inspiration of the prophets, while Stephen treated the whole history of Israel as inspired history. For him all that he knew about the Biblical history had been illuminated by the idea of the Christ as that idea had been revealed in Jesus. The goal toward which that history had been consciously moving was the advent of the Messlah, who had recently come in the person of Jesus, whom the Jews had hounded to

It also seems probable may be kept for awhile in the confines of the parental yard, but the day of the Christian truth from his contact comes when the growing life must look out beyond the picket fence and take to itself strength and assurance to 3forth into the world as a distinct personality, independent of the fostering care of those who bore him. So It was with the church. Stephen was the exponent of that stage of the adolescent church at which it began to build its first air eastles of future triumphs. It saw that the sum total of spiritual truth and life was not contained in Judalsm; there might even be a conillet of principle between the highest spiritual truth and Judaism. God's revelation of truth and of Himself have been progressive. The names of Abraham and Joseph and Moses and Amos indicate successive stages of growth in God's dealings with His people. The real point that Stenhen made along this line was that, since there had been a natural evolution in the religious history of the nation, which even the Sanhedrin admitted, the Sanhearln and the Jewish people who refused to consider the claims of Jesus grossly erred in supposing that the temple and the law ended the development of the divine work in the world. The fact is that, these were intended to lead on to the more spiritual culmination in Jesus Christ. The nation was, at the very time of Stephen, before the goal of her existence. Banker's Daughter Forced to Earn Her Living In Chicago.

Mrs. Bucner's Father Is A Millionaire In Michigan.

Marriage Disapproved By Her Parents And Ended Unhappily.

Chicago, Feb. 28.-From the luxurious 1984. Jurroundings of wealth to the place of an employe in a bakery is the change that five years of married life brought to Mrs. Maude Buener, daughter of a millionaire banker at Marshall, Mich. Several days ago she, with her 4-year-old for a lodging. Her appearance astounded and to District Attorney Baker. "I the officers, but she declared she had no | want to be tried for the murder and The day following sne applied to the li-linois employment bureau for a position and today she is working in a bakery at Elgin, Ill., in spite of the determined efferts of her friends and relatives to dissuade her from the idea that her parents and her friends will never again receive It is the story of pride wounded by the discovery of a mistaken marriage, and the young woman who left her home to marry the man of her choice would rather slave then return to the surrounding of her happy youth, now that her hopes of happiness are blasted and her home a wreck. When Mrs. Buener asked the desk sergeant at the police station for a place to sleep she was dressed in good clothing and the appearance of her child would never suggest that it was in the arms of After being subjected to many questions Mrs. Buener was finally turned over to Matron McMann and remained in the woman's quarters of the station during The following day she requested the matron to direct her to an employment bureau. The matron escorted her to the state bureau office at 234 Chicago avenue. near the station, and Mrs. Itucher asked for work. She desired a place where she could do housework if possible, so that she could keep her child with her. There was nothing for her then, but the superintendent told her he would look up a position for her then. the station and during the evening the matron endeavored to get from her the story of her unhanny of counstances but story of her unhappy circumstances, but the young woman refused to disclose the secret of her misfortune. tives of the woman chanced to see in the newspapers an necount of her lodging at the police station she would have gone to her pitiful surroundings. The third morning Mrs. Buener visited the employment bureau and accepted the position offered her. She had been gone rom the station less than half an when half a dozen excited women called at the police headquarters to see her. The sergeant said she might be found at the employment office. The scene when these women entering the employment bureau, encountered Mrs. Buener was an affecting one. Mrs. Buener recognized the women, one of them her aunt and the others relatives and friends, and told them that she was determined to work for a living.

Then the visitors told the superintendent of the bureau that Mrs. Buener's father was a millionaire banker and that he wished her to return home.

Conscience Caused Respected Texas Man to Confess Murder.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 28.-A guilty conscience is responsible for the surrender and confession of murder of James Lenard, alias Nolan, who has been taken from Hondo, Tex., to Colusa county, Cal., the scene of the crime. Lenard or Logan lived for eighteen years a respected citizen of Medina county, and his acquaintances there were profoundly surprised when he went to the officers and surrendered. At first the nature of his crime was not made public. J. W. Baker, district attorney of Medina county, wired the officers of Colusa county, Cal., and they replied that Lenard was wanted for the murder of Charles Hemstreet at Princeton, that county, in September, Sheriff Sherer of Colusa county came to Texas for the man, and in order that there might be no difficulty about extradition. Lenard made a full confession of his crime, which was forwarded to Governor Sayers. "My conscience will not permit me boy, applied to the Chicago avenue police longer to conceal my crime," said Lenhave it over with as soon as possible." In his confession Lenard said: "My name is James Lenard. I am now a little over 52 years old and am unmarried. I first went to California in 1859 with my father and remained there six or seven years, and then we removed to the Eastern states, where part of my family still resides. I will not give their names or addresses, as I

"I went to California the second time in the spring of 1884. One afternoon, in the forepart of September, 1884, while I was coming down the river from San Jacinto to Princeton, in Colusa county, about five miles from Princeton, a little before dark, I met a young man. I never knew his name. We sat down and drank whisky together until we were both drunk. "We reached Princeton about 11 o'clock. We were both armed, and as we entered the town we saw the lights in Charles Hemstreet's saloon. My companion proposed to me that we hold up Hemstreet and rob the saloon. When we reached the front of the salcon we saw four men inside, one of whom was Hemstreet. We went to the front of the saloon and threw our sixshooters down on the men. All except The next night Mrs. Buener spent in Hemstreet threw up their hands, and and jumped into the river. I swam across, but I never saw my companion again.
